With Land at Stake, Environmentalists and Housing Advocates Find Viewpoints Clash

Environmentalists and housing advocates are peering at each other warily through the thicket these days, not only in Princeton but elsewhere throughout the country.

How do you balance pressing housing needs with the need to protect the land? The question is not only asked between two groups, but is often a tormenting problem within individuals committed to one side or the other.

The Princeton Regional Planning Board was scheduled to make a decision this week on the site plan of the 100-unit Yedlin public housing project on Mt. Lucas Road sponsored by the Princeton Housing Authority.

The plan has been changed since it was described at a five-and-one-half hour special Planning Board meeting last month. One of the five buildings for the elderly residents has been eliminated.

One of the remaining four buildings now has 12 efficiency units on a second floor, reached by stairs. The whole project still has 100 units, 60 for the elderly and 40 for families.

Eliminating this building saves in excess of 7,000 square feet, according to Edward Wilson of the J.

Robert Hillier firm of architects. This footage now becomes open space. Mr. Wilson said that architects chose to remove the building that would mean the most in big trees saved.

Also, the community building for the elderly has been re-located so that it's more central to the elderly community, and more accessible to parking.

"Significant" improvement in "planned spaces" for outdoor living has been achieved, in Mr. Wilson's view.

On the family-unit side of the project, the improved parking area has been re-distributed and reduced by about 15 spaces. Provision has been made for future improvement of all parking spaces.

Whether these changes will satisfy Planning Board members who have environmental concerns, is a question that may be answered at Wednesday's meeting. In any case, the Planning Board's vote on the Yedlin site plan is sure to be a split one.

There are 13 members (one vacancy) now on the Board. Lacking a poll of board members in advance of Wednesday's vote, an observer might line up Golda Gottlieb, Martha Lamar, Murray Medvin, Robert Cawley, Norman Williams, William Walker and Margen Penick on the "housing" side, and Abbot Low Moffat, Jay Bleiman and Jerome Rose on the "environmental" side, with Charles Berry, Fred Bohlen and chairman Hans K. Sander harder to predict.

One Board member, looking at this possible line-up, commented ruefully that supporters of the project, which is in the Township, are largely residents of the Borough.

Only the site plan may be considered by the Planning Board, the Board's attorney William Miller has ruled. Density, the wisdom of the 40 family-60 elderly mix, size and

Township to Share Cost of Busing Children Who Live on "Hazardous" Routes to Schools

School children who live on "hazardous" routes will be bused to school next year, as they have been this year.

Township Mayor Jay Bleiman made that promise Monday night at Township Committee to a group of anxious parents from the Hibben-Magie apartment complex. These apartments, between Washington Road and Alexander Street, are less than two miles from Riverside School and under state law, children living in them would therefore be required to walk to school.

However, Princeton's school board designated the route as "hazardous" some years ago, and has bused children at its own expense - the state won't help pay for hazardous-route busing as it does for ordinary busing - until the present budget crisis.

"Hazardous" routes were eliminated by the school board as a money-saving measure. Most of these routes are in the Township.

Informal agreement has been reached with the school board on a cost-sharing arrangement, the mayor told the parents, and he expects a final decision in about two weeks.

(There will be no dollar outlay by the schools, explained school board president Winthrop Pike after Mayor Bleiman's statement. A single school bus may carry only a handful of "hazardous route" passengers in its total pupil haul, and it's a question of working out a formula under which the Township will pay only for those pupils.)

(Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley said he doesn't know whether the Borough will join the Township in the plan. Only a few Borough children live on these routes. Council is expected to talk about the matter at its agenda meeting this Thursday.)

For One Year Only. The agreement is only for one year, Mayor Bleiman warned. He hopes that new bike and walkways will make these dangerous routes safe, he told the parents, but he questions the wisdom of asking children five to eleven years old, to walk two miles.

He suggested parents get this two-mile issue before the state's Commissioner of Education, whose ruling it originally was, and propose a change.

When Earl Thomas, an exasperated parent, asked why it had taken Committee so long to act, the mayor said the school board hadn't even wanted to open discussions until the budget question had been resolved.

A single, municipal bus system to carry school children, the elderly and everybody in between, would be better than the present fragmented system, declared Committee member William Sutphin.

All About Rock. Abbot Low Moffat, senior member of Committee and without peer in dignity of mein and bearing, is going to give a rock and roll party at his house. Does he need a permit for the amplifiers?

Mr. Moffat's startling excursion into the world of hard rock was revealed as Committee pondered a request by Princeton University's Class of '75 for permission to keep the amplifiers plugged in from 9 a.m. to 3 a.m. June 9-10 for the Senior Prom at the Math-Physics complex on Washington Road.

"It does seem like imposing on the peace of the town," observed Police Chief Frederick Porter, but he assured Committee University officials had promised to pull the plug-figuratively if not literally-if the volume of complaints proved too high.

In the end, Committee voted, 3-2, to allow the amplifiers-but only until 1 a.m. Music doesn't have to stop then, only the amplifiers.

Mayor Bleiman and Margaret Broadwater staunchly voted "no." They couldn't bear, they said, to have graduates deprived of a couple of hours of nice, loud had an easy victory over Paul R. Pelito.

In heavily-Democratic Mercer County, the results seemed a clear indication that Mr. Sypek will be the County Executive when the ballots are counted in November. He is currently Freeholder Director.

At press time, with 244 of 270 districts in the county reporting, Mr. Sypek was ahead 17,194 to Mr. Holland's 13,072. Mr. Holland had strong support in Princeton, carrying the Borough by 409 to Mr. Sypek's 243 and the Township by 706 to Mr. Sypek's 211.

Mr. Moffat? He's giving his party for the graduating class of Princeton Day School--which includes a Moffat grandchild. Does he, as a private citizen, need the special permit required under the Township's noise ordinance, as University's seniors do?

Gordon Griffin, municipal attorney, declined an off-the-cuff judgment and said he would study the matter.

After a lengthy presentation by two representatives of the Aluminum Association on the merits of aluminum wiring, Committee passed the amendment to the electrical code in which aluminum wires are prohibited inside a building.

But the representatives were invited to make their case in even more detail before the Building Board of Appeals and the building inspector, with a view toward possible amendment of the restriction.

Committee also:

- Passed the taxis-for-the-elderly ordinance.

- Accepted the resignations of Lucy Hackney from the Zoning Board and Robert Sinkler from the Recreation Board.

- Asked the state to modify its plans for a bike-pedestrian crossing of Mercer Road at Battlefield Park. Too dangerous in its present location, say Township police and the Traffic Safety Committee.

- Heard Mayor Bleiman report he's written to Federal housing officials asking a $3,000-plus increase in income limits for Princeton Community Village housing.

- Heard Mrs. Broadwater urge citizens to save newspapers and glass for a new re-cycling endeavor.

- Heard Committee member Elizabeth Hutter announce that vegetable plots are still available at the Shopping Center and Tiger Garage.

Mr. Sayen won over Mr. Pelito by 218 to 22 in the Borough and 442 to 33 in the Township.

Only 17.1% of the Borough's 5,366 registered voters went to the polls, and only 18.7% of the Township's 7,971. Observers had predicted a turn-out of 20%.

Organization Democrats backed Mr. Sypek, who had been expected to win the nomination. In Princeton, the Community Democratic Organization gave last-minute backing last week to Mr. Holland, supporting him by 71 votes to Mr. Sypek's 27, with two "undecided" ballots. Most Democratic office-holders supported Freeholder Director Sypek, and the PCDO was almost the only Democratic club to back Mr. Holland.

There were no local primary contests. Democrats turned out to give their candidates more courtesy votes than Republicans did by a two-to-one margin in the Borough and almost that in the Township.

height of buildings are outside the scope of what the Board can consider, he has said. But all these factors and more, are on the minds of Board members.

Mr. Yedlin and the Authority can't proceed unless the Board approves—probably with many "conditions"—a site plan. If the Board does reject a plan, the Authority may appeal the decision to Township Committee or to the courts. But without Planning Board clearance, Mr. Yedlin can't get a building permit.

Historians of the community will recall that the Tower office complex on Mt. Lucas Road was killed five years ago on the basis of site plan rejection.

The Opposing View. The Yedlin property "cannot support this project as designed," says the Township Environmental Commission. Incidentally, the two-page statement from that group was signed by Judith Nielsen, a Commission member who lives on Mt. Lucas near the proposed project and has been an outspoken opponent of it in many public meetings of various bodies.

Geologist Erling Dorf, in the Commission's statement, says the diabase ridge, on which the 10-acre site is located, has soil averaging only a few inches deep. Vegetation on the Yedlin land, he says, grows mostly in pockets of leaf mould between boulders.

Almost all trees in the elderly section would have to be removed and surviving trees might not make it, he warns. He also fears erosion, and says a channel to be dug for drainage could become a steep-walled gouge in heavy storms.

Outdoor recreation areas are too small, the statement continues, and garbage huts inadequate for the future.

Terminology. "Vague," is the way Planning Board Hans K. Sander characterizes this report.

"I don't know what 'support' means in this context," says Golda Gottlieb.

"I don't see much evidence for the Commission's view that the site 'cannot support' the project," says Township Mayor Jay Bleiman.

"This whole problem is difficult because the Planning Board has made a commitment to housing," Mr. Sander explains, "we have raised the number of units desirable for the Township from 200 to 550 in the years since the late '60s."

"But environmental consciousness has increased a lot in that time," he continues, "and this makes us take a long look. We want the best possible project built, but as presented so far, this one is less than 100 percent perfect."

At that time, Mr. Sander had not yet seen the changes architects presented to the Planning Board at Tuesday night's meeting.

Three Years Ago. In 1972, he says, when the Authority first showed its plans, there were 100 units on 14 acres—not ten acres, as now. Mr. Yedlin lost the option to buy the four acres, but the Authority kept the 100 units. Mayor Bleiman says Thomas Jamieson, attorney for Mr. Yedlin, wrote the Authority that Mr. Yedlin was ready to go back to the Zoning Board with fewer units, but this was never done.

"Since 1972," Mr. Sander continues, "four acres have been dropped, the mix changed from 50-50 to 60 elderly-40 family, the physical layout changed—and all of us are more conscious of the environment."

The Planning Board chairman hopes the Board will decide to add non-binding recommendations to whatever binding conditions it sets for Mr. Yedlin.

"What troubles me most," he says, "is that the Board may not do this. These recommendations are absolutely necessary as precedents for the future."

He says he is referring to recommendations on density, mix of people, size and height of buildings—factors that aren't supposed to be considered in reviewing a site plan.

Authority Lacking. "Only one issue is before us: site review," says Mrs. Gottlieb firmly, "there are still people hankering after changing the number of units or the mix of families and elderly. This is clearly NOT what we have authority to do."

"I have a commitment to housing," she says, "As a Planning Board member, I try very hard to be as objective as I can, but when it comes down to it, I have to have an awfully good reason to say those 100 units can't be built, and I haven't seen that reason yet."

"Trees? Plant new ones. Saving trees is great, but it's at the bottom of any list of priorities, even where the environment is concerned. And I can't get 'shook up' about the Environmental Commission statement; it is unsupported by details."

Professor Dorf's comments on the diabase ridge are different from conclusions drawn by the experts who did the Township's Natural Resources Inventory, Mrs. Gottlieb says. "In some places, the soil is 40 feet deep," she observes.

Engineers for the Authority and the Township were scheduled to present data at Tuesday night's executive Planning Board meeting, and Mrs. Gottlieb and other Planning Board members say they expect this material to answer drainage and erosion questions posed by the Environmental Commission.

"Drainage is a major concern," she says, "but it's not a thing that can't be managed."

Bleiman's Viewpoint. Mayor Bleiman finds the Yedlin site "out of keeping with the area. I have always been concerned about a single concentration of 40 low-income families there, but there seem no alternatives."

"Neighbors' objections are that 40 low-income families will be there—no question about that," he says, "and fewer units would be more palatable to them. I appreciate their concern, and I think you might call it an issue of 'social environment'."

The mayor points out that the new (1974) Federal housing law does away with this "project" kind of public housing.

"The Princeton community has committed itself to a 'mix' of housing, as the community grows," the mayor continues. "PCH Village is a low-higher income mix. It is also higher density than the Yedlin project, but it has more room: you can put a retention basin up there, you can nestle buildings in the trees."

"Density" itself isn't the question with Yedlin: it's density AT THAT SITE," the mayor emphasizes.

"There are limits beyond which you just don't go, in terms of a fundamental change in the character of the community, but I don't see the Yedlin project as in that category."

And so the pro-and-con sways back and forth, often within the same human mind.

Complications. When the Planning Board's "village" concept comes up for detailed public hearings, will these housing vs. the environment arguments become even more pointed?

"I hope not!" is Mrs. Gottlieb's fervent answer. "I hope the Planning Board and Environmental Commissions can come to some reasonable conclusion on what can be done."

"It's even more complicated," Mr. Sander believes. "The issue with many people is 'Why do we need to grow? Why do we need more people?' Where housing is concerned, they say, 'Let's see whether PCH fills. Maybe the demand isn't that pent-up.'"

And Mayor Bleiman agrees that the basic issue is that of community growth.

Returning to Yedlin and the Housing Authority.

"If they can change, give, and bend, it will soften the way people feel," is Mr. Sander's view.

"I hope there are enough compromises to make it come out," says Mayor Bleiman, "and I think there are."

Float Catapulting 5,000 Orange and Black Balls To Entertain P-Rade Watchers

A catapult, mounted on a float and manned by small-sized knights in armor, will throw out some 5,000 orange and black styrene balls along a parade route that winds its way down Nassau Street and ends at Princeton University's Clarke Field.

The float, followed by three more floats, created by and representing the returning Class of 1950, will lead off Princeton's annual P-Rade at 2 on Saturday - thus marking the traditional climax of alumni reunions which begin this Thursday.

A fire engine guided by firemen wearing orange suspenders, a sandbox on wheels combed by beach boys, and a space capsule with helmeted astronauts will follow the catapult. Behind them, some 3,500 returning alumni and their families will tread the P-Rade route.

Traditionally, the 25th reunion class leads the P-Rade and the floats and costumes this year are the brainchild of Charles '50 of Chairman for his class.

"Our class," says Mr. Rose, "has had the weirdest P-Rade costumes. We were knights for our 20th, firemen at the 15th, beach boys at the 10th and spacemen at the 5th."

Mr. Rose, owner of an advertising firm, has returned to Princeton for 15 reunions. "People go to Mecca or to Rome," he says. "My pilgrimage is back to Princeton. My denomination," he adds, "is Class of '50."

He has also built and he owns an office building in Oyster Bay, N.Y., which he has named Nassau Hall after Princeton's historic building - it contains a piece of the original Nassau Hall in the lobby and has orange walls and black baseboards.

Mr. Rose's daughter, Elizabeth '77, is overseeing the costumes and the floats. "We expect," she says, "that the children will want to wear the costumes and ride the floats. At least that's what we're hoping." The returning alumni will wear their class blazers.

NO RECOMMENDATIONS

For Two School Jobs. An acting principal of the Middle School and an acting director of Staff Services may be named at next Tuesday's school board meeting (8 p.m., Community Park), but so far the board has received no recommendations from the superintendent, board president Winthrop Pike said this week.

Three members of the Princeton Regional Schools' staff have applied for the job of acting Middle School principal, (replacing Virginia Euell), and eight for the job of acting Staff Services director, (replacing Constance Vieland).

However, according to L. Wesley Johnson, personnel director, only three of the eight have the required supervisor's certificate, and one of these three has withdrawn from consideration. Mr. Johnson would not comment on a rumor that Virginia Euell, denied tenure in her post as Middle School principal, had applied for the Staff Services job.

A review of the Wednesday program, prepared by Superintendent Philip E. McPherson at board request, will be on the agenda and so will the question of student fees.

The fee question is expected to take up most of the meeting, Mr. Pike said. It involves what parents are expected to pay for, and what they can expect the school to pay for.

Hannah Fox, board vice-president warned this week that budget cut-backs could affect what the schools can afford. As an extreme example, she said, whole programs in after-school sports might have to be eliminated or curtailed because the equipment cost the schools too much money.

The board will also try for a permanent, overall policy on the school calendar, hoping to avoid yearly and lengthy discussions.

For U Store Theft. A Princeton University senior has been placed on probation for one year and given a suspended jail sentence for attempting to steal merchandise valued at $3,084 from the University Store in January.

Pierre P. President, 21, was sentenced to an indeterminate term at the Yardville Youth Corrections Center last week by County Court Judge Richard Barlow Jr. who then suspended the jail sentence.

President was apprehended by Borough and campus police who had responded to a 4:15 a.m. burglar alarm. Police found two color television sets, a guitar, stereo equipment and three calculators stacked on a landing inside the store.

President had been free on $10,000 bail. He told the court that he had attempted the theft as a "means of gaining financial support as an alternative to receiving support from his parents."

WOOD CHIPPER DAMAGED
By Young Vandals. Three dials on a wood chipper attached to a truck parked in the rear of 200 Grover Avenue were damaged last week, apparently the work of young vandals. Damage was listed at $200 by owner Robert Wells.

According to police, several young children had been chased from the area after having been detected hanging on the equipment. It appears as if the damage was done by a rock, police said. Ptl. James Vandermark is investigating.

Sufficiently clear for a View of the moon.

June so far has been full of clouds, and the clouds full of rain—better than an inch and a half dampened the surroundings in the first three days of the month.

Sunny, warm weather is forecast through Friday. The Man mentions showers as a Saturday possibility, with Sunday fair again.

Princeton and a gold wrist-watch were taken from a room in 1903 Hall. There were no signs of forced entry.

A digital clock radio ($20) and a 12-inch television set ($85) were taken from 601 Cuyler Hall. Although the victim told police he had locked the room, they were unable to determine how the entry was made.

A student in the Princeton Inn College, in the process of moving his property Tuesday afternoon, left his electric typewriter and case unattended in the lobby. When he returned 20 minutes later, it was missing.

A stereo amplifier and turntable with a combined value of $730 belonging to one student and a $25 plaid suitcase owned by another were stolen from an unlocked room in 1937 Hall.

A cassette recorder was stolen early Sunday morning from 61 Little Hall and Borough police have charged a Trenton resident with the theft.

Anthony W. Stacey, 22, has been charged with breaking and entering and larceny under $200 and with possession of stolen property. He was seen and stopped by Ptl. William Hunter and Ptl. John Holcombe on Bank Street at 5:20 in the morning. Police said that he had the recorder in his possession at the time of the arrest.

Stacey was released in $250 bail, pending his appearance in Borough court.

SENIOR TAXIS?

Council to Act. A special taxi service for Princeton residents over 62 may go into effect as a result of the ordinance that will be up for public hearing next Tuesday before Borough Council.

Mayor Robert W. Cawley warned this week, however, that if the Borough finds the bids of taxi owners too high, the project may be set aside. Council has not set a ceiling.

"It's not fore-ordained that we'll accept any of the bids," the mayor commented.

If the project costs too much, Council (and Township Committee) might decide to go back to the old Crosstown '62 project, paying for the driver with CETA Federal unemployment money, Mayor Cawley said.

Council will also hold public hearing on the new joint Borough-Township site plan review ordinance. The measure sets up a new eight-member committee of professionals which would sit down with a developer or property-owner and talk over plans for the site.

At present, in the Borough, this review is done by a sub-committee of the Regional Planning Board. The Township has a separate professional committee, similar to the one that will be established under the new ordinance.

"I've been favorably impressed with the way the Township's site plan committee operates," Mayor Cawley said, "it seems to get better plans, and without controversy."

The ordinance applies to major subdivisions and to everything except one or two-family dwellings. If an owner wants to convert a house to

HOST FAMILIES NEEDED

For Fresh Air Fund Youngsters. Seventy-five New York City children expect to spend two weeks this summer in the Princeton area under the sponsorship of the Fresh Air Fund. Forty area families have offered to host one or more of these children; 35 families are still needed, according to Diane Monteleone, the chairman.

Hosts may choose a child between the ages of 5 and 12, of either sex, most suited to their family situation. They may also choose one of three arrival dates: July 1, July 15, and July 29. They are asked only to provide hospitality (food and care); all other expenses, including medical services, are provided by the Fresh Air Fund.

For 98 years the Fresh Air Fund has organized these visits, sending thousands of children to 3,000 homes over 12 Atlantic seaboard states. Throughout its history of providing free vacations for New York City boys and girls of every faith, race, and Missing Any Jewelry?

Township Chief Frederick Porter reports that Trenton and Hamilton police and Philadelphia detectives raided an illegal "fence" in Philadelphia last month and confiscated a huge collection of stolen jewelry. Twenty-eight pages were needed to list it all.

Chief Porter said that his department has a list and color photographs of all the stolen pieces—men's and women's—and that they are open to the public.

"The possibility exists that some of the jewelry may have come from the Mercer County area," Chief Porter said. He invited any burglary victims to come and inspect the photos.

nationality only one criterion is used: need.

For kids who have never been farther from home than Penn Station in New York City, a two-week stay in "the country" is a rare treat. To provide a child with this opportunity or for further information call Diane Monteleone, 737-1908, or Joanne Bardsley, 466-2639.

Woman Whose Husband Died While Playing Golf Wins $40,000 in Workman's Compensation Claim

A man who coaches a college golf team is engaged in an occupational activity when playing golf. If he dies while doing so, he is entitled to workman's compensation.

That was the verdict, by a 2-1 decision, reached last week by the state Superior Court Appellate Division regarding the death of Delos C. "Dutch" Schoch on September 19, 1970. While playing on the 12th hole at Springdale Golf Club that morning, Mr. Schoch suffered a heart attack and died before he could be taken to Princeton Hospital.

At the time, he was Senior Men's champion, and he was playing in the tournament that day in defense of his title. Two of the three judges hearing the case agreed with a workmen's compensation judge that because his employer, the University, "derived substantial direct benefits" from his career as a golfer, his widow is entitled to approximately $40,000 under state law.

Mrs. Jane B. Schoch said that her husband felt that golfing was a basic part of his career as coach of the Princeton team. A member of the sales staff at Peyton Real Estate, she lives on Ridgeview Road.

In the dissenting opinion, Judge Donald Colleser declared that Mr. Schoch was not required to play in the tournament and that he found no evidence that the tournament was beneficial to the University. Because of the split verdict in the case, the University is entitled to appeal the ruling. A University spokesman said this week that the matter was under consideration, with a decision expected in the next few days as to what course the University would take.

Mr. Schoch had been coach of the golf team from 1965 until the time of his death, succeeding Harry Kinnell, who was coach for two decades until his retirement. Before coaching golf, Mr. Schoch had been crew coach at Princeton for 20 years.

While he was in Mexico in 1965, Mr. Schoch suffered a coronary attack and was advised by his physician to end his career as a coach of rowing. The University then assigned him to administrative duties and also named him golf coach. He had been on the Princeton scene since 1938, when he came here as an assistant crew coach.

color television set and a ten dollar bill were stolen last week from a rear first-floor apartment at 134 Alexander Street. Entry was gained through a bathroom window.

Police said that nothing else in the apartment was removed or ransacked. They identified the owner as Albert W. Underwood.

Borough Ptl. Bernard Lenhardt investigated two entries into Princeton High School, both reported Thursday morning.

A window was forced to enter the metal shop, where two complete sets of welding torches valued at $320 and two sets of socket wrenches, valued at $100 each, were taken.

A window screen on the east side of the school was removed and a pane of glass broken to enter an office in the kitchen. Although some files were ransacked, nothing else in the office was disturbed and nothing was taken, police said.

Robert Sturken, 106 Balcourt Drive, reported Thursday the theft of an 8-track stereo valued at $100 from his car which had been parked in front of his house.

Police said that Mr. Sturken, on his way to work in the morning, had noticed several loose wires hanging under the dash that has been unfastened from the stereo. Both doors on one side were left ajar by the thief, police said.

Kenneth Mnss, 158 Witherspoon Street, reported the theft of his 12-volt, $25 battery from his parked car, while a Berrien Court resident listed the theft of two lawn chairs, a TV tray and two flower pots from a front porch. Total value of the five items: $41.

A Jefferson Road resident told police Saturday morning that during the night someone had removed a five-foot Yucca Tree from the front porch. It was valued at $50. Several other plants on the porch were not disturbed, police said.

a wire guard rail on Route 206 opposite Arreton Road and skidded some 30 feet.

The driver, Stephen R. Skladany, 22, of Route 27, was treated at Princeton Medical Center for lacerations of the head. He was ticketed by Ptl. David Funk for careless driving.

Police report there were no skid marks prior to the car's impact with the guard rail. The incident took place last Wednesday evening shortly after 9.

CREDIT CARD INVALID

Trenton Pair Charged. A Trenton couple was charged by Township police last week after they allegedly tried to purchase a $173 stereo in Sears in the Princeton Shopping Center with a stolen credit card.

Linda M. Treadwell, 22, was charged with possession and use of a stolen credit card and later released in her own recognizance. Released in $250 bail was Maurice E. Byrd, 21, charged with aiding and abetting. Both are scheduled to appear in Township Court June 18.

Police were summoned to the store by the manager, after it reportedly had been determined that the card had been stolen from Mrs. Leo Roberts. Ptl. Mario Musso investigated.

LICENSE REVOKED

For Drunken Driving. Francis W. Davis Jr., 17, 58 Valley Road, was fined $210 and had his license revoked for two years Monday in Borough Court for drunken driving.

Mr. Davis was also fined $30 by Judge Philip Carchman for driving an unregistered car, $30 for displaying unclear license plates and $35 for failure to have assignment of certificate of ownership made. A charge of no registration in possession was dismissed. He pleaded guilty to all charges. Judge Carchman ordered him to undertake a driver's re-examination.

It was also an expensive day in court for James R. Brooks, 18, 561 State Road. He was fined $20 each on separate charges of careless driving, failure to stop at a flashing traffic signal and failure to comply with an officer's signal.

Fined for speeding were Ronald B. Jarl, Mulford Lane, Belle Mead, $18; Barbara Stein, 86 Jefferson Road, $35; and Mary L. Werts, 6 Berrien Court; Kathleen L. Reed, 20 Murray Place; Beryl Canfield, Moores Mill Road, Hopewell; Vito Rossi, 50 Tee Ar Place; Ellen Oelsner, 33 Lafayette Road; Marjorie L. Smith, 68 Montdale Road; and Rodney E. Caldwell, 13 Glenview Drive, all $15.

Dominick M. Mollica, 216 Dorchester Drive, Cranbury, paid $15 for a red light violation.

"NO" TO OFFICES

On North Harrison. By a 5-1 vote last Wednesday, the Township Zoning Board said "no" to construction of an office building on North Harrison Street, approximately across from the Citgo service station.

The applicant was MARD Associates' Arnold Hirsch who, with his partner, Robert Albahary, wanted to erect a two-story building containing four professional offices. In the course of the hearing on his use variance request, Dr. Hirsch said he'd even settle for two offices. But his request was denied.

In the vote, board member Dede Nini cast the only "yes" vote. Martha Lamar abstained.

SENIORS:

Celebrate! She met an old friend, a shut-in she hadn't seen in 20 years. They found they both had the same problems—one was coping, one just couldn't. Now they help each other.

He's a spry 83, widower, lonely for companionship. He met three pleasant widow ladies who have invited him to their homes, and he is dating one of them and having a fine time.

It all happened at last year's senior outing, the one sponsored by Landau's, the Nassau Street store. Landau's is preparing to do it again—"only better," says Robert Landau—and this year, it's going to be called a "Senior Celebration."

The date is Thursday, July 17. It will be held from 2-7 p.m. on the grounds of "Prospect" on the Princeton University campus. Transportation available.

All Princeton's older residents are invited: the retired broker on Library Place, the former bocce champion on Ewing Street, the grandmother who lives on Birch Avenue, the couple on Cedar Lane.

Can you play, sing or do a vaudeville turn? Mr. Landau would like to recruit entertainers for the day from senior Princeton talents. If you can perform in some way (or if your older parents or grandparents can, but would be too shy to say so), call Landau's at 924-3493 and sign up. Guests to the Celebration should also register at Landau's so the store will know how much food and drink to buy.

Croquet, bingo, shuffleboard, horseshoes, checkers, bocce—lots of games for men and women, the active and the quiet. Last year's gathering drew about 165 people, and Mr. Landau hopes for even more this year—especially men. Come. Bring a friend.

SCOUT SHOW SET

This Weekend at Armory. Over 1500 cub, explorer and boy scouts from Mercer, Hunterdon and Warren counties are completing plans this week for their annual Scout Show to be staged here Saturday, 1-8 p.m., and Sunday, noon to 4. All who visit the show will be treated to live sport, skill and career demonstrations inside Eggerts Crossing Armory (off Route 206), and to an action-packed camporee on the armory's spacious grounds. One highlight is the scheduled appearance Sunday of Washington Redskins' football stars Jerry Smith and Roy Jefferson.

Boy Scout Troop 146 of Belvidere will demonstrate live quail egg hatching made possible with an incubator. Cub Scout Pack 190 of Flemington and Pack 29 of Lawrence Township will join forces for a Pinewood Derby model automobile race, complete with "computerized" finish and exact time statistics.

Pack 105 of Trenton will create a carnival featuring live acts and colorful costumes prepared by the scouts. Hamilton Explorer Post 00 will display a complete collection of American Indian artifacts gathered from the Delaware River area, and the explorers will explain the origins of the materials.

General admission tickets are $1, and can be obtained at the door, at George Washington Council headquarters, or from cub, explorer and boy scouts in the George Washington Council.

Vertical wrinkles from the nose to the mouth are caused by poor posture of the mouth, by discouragement, or by other negative emotions. These may cause the corners of the mouth to droop, which causes defining of the lines. Suck wrinkles can also be caused by missing teeth, or by a denture that is not built up sufficiently to fill in shrunken gums resulting from the loss of teeth. These wrinkles can be somewhat alleviated by lightly massaging in plenty of a good rich salve or cream once a day. Always work out over the cheeks.

A forum on Soviet-American relations whose participants include two former ambassadors to the Soviet Union - George F. Kennan '25 and Jacob Beam '29 - is one of some 12 faculty-alumni forums and lectures being offered to returning alumni and members of the Princeton community during the university's annual reunion days this weekend.

Dr. Kennan, now chairman of the Institute for Advanced Russian Studies at Washington's Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars, served as ambassador in 1952 and Mr. Beam, a former Princeton resident now chairman of the Board of Radio Free Europe, who served from 1969 to 1973, will be joined in the discussion by Dr. Edmund A. GOLD KEYS AWARDED

At Princeton High School. The Gold Key for Meritorious Service was established at Princeton High School in 1947. Before that time, each of the school organizations presented its own small felt insignias. The student council of '46-'47 voted to abolish all of the small tokens and to establish the Gold Key, an award to be received only once during a high school career.

The Key is given to no more than 10 percent of the senior class, and five percent of the junior class. Consideration for the award is based primarily on service to the school as well as leadership and character.

In the early spring, nominations by any member of the faculty, staff and students are made. A Gold Key committee, composed of the counselors, the chairman of guidance, the assistant principals and the principal, screens the nominations and determines the ballot, which is presented to faculty members and to seniors who received the award in their junior year. The committee counts the ballots and determines the proper percentages.

The award, presented this year to 42 seniors and 15 juniors, is in the form of a gold key with the school insignia.

Also, Rhonda MacPherson, Ann Magee, William Manuel, Daryl Marshall, Jane Martin, Patty Mooney, Ellen Moss, Dan Muri, Lori Murphy, Amy Nadler, Chris Negus, Anthony Nunery, Deborah Pehta, Karen Pike, Kathy Roetter, Peter Schwartz, Michael Spies, Francine Swart-

returning alumni, their families and Princeton community residents, were initiated in 1951 by the Class of 1926 as a new program in continuing education. Traditionally, they deal with contemporary human concerns and are most often moderated by faculty members. The expert panelists are usually drawn from alumni ranks.

Discussions about ecology, economy and conservation; the forgotten generation called the elderly; the president and congress, executive power and the legislative process; American railroads -- whether they should be private or public; creativity and constraints of American media; the Middle East; the public interest; and the export of nuclear technology comprise the other faculty-alumni forums.

Lectures on the art of photography, cancer research at Princeton, Chaucerean scholarship, and Thoreau at Princeton by Princeton faculty members are also scheduled.

SCOUT LEADER HONORED
In Trinity Church Ceremony. Boy Scout Troop 50 at Princeton's Trinity Episcopal Church bid farewell to outgoing Scoutmaster, Captain Joseph A. McChristian, Jr., ROTC Instructor at Princeton University, and welcomed Robert Wells, who takes his place, during Court of Honor Ceremonies held Thursday night.

Star Scout Brian Clancy, Senior Patrol Leader of the troop, conducted ceremonies which included the awarding of merit badges for various activities to Steve Condiff, David Caulton, Bill Roessel, Matt Wilkinson, and advancement to 2nd Class to Paul Papier and to Life Scout to Richard Chenoweth. Captain McChristian was presented a framed Certificate of Appreciation from the members of the troop as well as a giant cake with "Good Luck" printed on the icing.

Capt. McChristian was a Cuh and Scout before entering and graduating from West Point. He has served tours of duty in Greece and Vietnam and, now completing his assignment with the ROTC unit at Princeton University, is reporting to Ft. Hood, Texas, for duty.

New Scoutmaster, Robert Wells, Drakes Corner Road, will take over immediately with the assistance of Eagle Scout and Assistant Scoutmaster Gene Keller.

Alumni College to Draw 150 Here Who Will Find How Much Man Has Learned Since They Graduated

An 11-year-old boy with a prodigious thirst for science, along with businessmen, artists, architects, housewives, engineers, writers, doctors and lawyers are returning to college on Princeton University's campus.

The sixth Princeton Alumni College, scheduled for June 8-13, will bring together 150 people — not all of whom are alumni — from all over the country and from various parts of the world for a week-long intellectual immersion in the program, "Revolutions in Science: Great Discoveries That Have Changed the World."

Eleven-year-old Jonathan Creighton, son of Donald Creighton '57, of Santa Barbara, Calif., was the only 5th grader in an Alumni College of two years ago in Ojai, Calif., called, "Science for Poets." According to Daniel N. White, Associate Director of the Alumni Council, "his were some of the most probing and interesting questions of all, so we're welcoming Jonathan back."

Jonathan, whose hobbies include birdwatching, cooking and launching model rockets, lists his special interests as astronomy, cosmology, biology, microbiology, chemistry, geology, physics, genetics and other sciences. He has put in a special request for a tour of Jadwin Hall, home of Princeton's physics department and its cyclotron, as well as for a visit to the astronomical observatory.

Faculty participants in the next on-campus Alumni College, which though limited to 150 students is now part of the university's continuing education program and is thus open to all adults and some knowledge-hungry children, include some of the most distinguished names in their fields. Historians of science Thomas Kuhn, Michael Mahoney, and Gerald Geison; geologists Kenneth S. Deffeyes and Jason W. Morgan — one of the leaders in the current earth sciences revolution; biologists John Bonner and Edward Cox; mathematical physicist Arthur Wightman; and Joseph Smagorinsky, Director of the Geophysical Fluid Dynamics Laboratory, will all be teaching.

The program, which has been arranged by Mr. Deffeyes, is described as "rigorous" by Mr. White. "The daily class and seminar schedule," he says, "begins at 9, continues through 3 and resumes after dinner at 8:30. He compares it to the schedule of a Princeton undergraduate, but calls the program "much more intensive. Our experience from past Alumni Colleges is that such a sudden and total immersion into knowledge and theory, creates a great deal of intellectual ferment."

Mr. White describes the typical encounter of adult students with ideas, mysteries and information as a "humbling experience. People," he says, "are fascinated by how much more has been learned since they left college, and by how much more is still unknown."

According to Peter Putnam '42, Chairman of the Alumni Council's Committee on Academic Programs, "Participation in an Alumni College is tremendously exciting. It broadens people's horizons."

He notes that he is hoping to expand the colleges and turn them into an ongoing outreach program in continuing education. One possibility, he suggests, could involve taking the college to a business firm for attendance by its employees, as well as by Princeton alumni; another, running a college on a cooperative basis with another university. "Faculty members," Mr. Putnam says, "contribute their time. Since the colleges are always interdisciplinary, it gives them a chance to listen to each other, and they enjoy the rapt interest of the students."

In addition to the classroom experience Mr. White notes that extracurricular offerings will include an early morning birdwalk led by ornithologist Thomas C. Southerland, Jr., a tour through Princeton's Plasma Physics Laboratory and invitations to the Senior Prom on the night of June 9 and Commencement on June 10.

According to Mr. White, "Alumni College students have ranged from an alumnus of the Class of 1911 to new graduates, but the majority of them — with the exception of Jonathan Creighton — return to school some 20 to 30 years after their graduation. They have come from as far away as Japan, Singapore and the Philippines," he adds.

BOROUGH MAN ARRESTED

On Attempted Rape Charge. John F. Miller, 21, 7 Lytle Street, was arrested Friday on Witherspoon and Lytle by Det. Ronald Holladay and Ptl. Peter Hanley, who had a signed complaint charging Miller with attempted rape and assault with intent to rape.

Miller was arraigned before Judge Philip Carchman and remanded to Mercer County Jail in lieu of $5,000 bail. He was scheduled to appear in Borough Court this Wednesday.

Police said that Miller had allegedly attacked a 15-year old girl here the previous day.

BAND CONCERT PLANNED

In Franklin Township. The Franklin High School will give its annual "Thank-You Concert" at Colonial Park on Saturday.

In addition to the Wind Symphony, Symphonic Band and Marching Band, the Band Front units will perform. Marching tunes as well as concert music will be played. The concert will take place at 2 across from the lake on Knob Hill.

Nude Bathers Scattered

Approximately 25 nude bathers cooling off in the pool in front of Woodrow Wilson Hall fled when police arrived at 1:15 Friday morning.

There were no arrests, said Lt. John J. Bellow, because the bathers, reported to be all males, scattered with their clothing when the patrol cars drove up.

KEEPING COOL: A fire engine ride was one way to beat the heat and humidity at Saturday's Fete, but the somewhat less-than-perfect weather did not prevent the annual event from ranking as a major success.

FETE DRAWS 50,000
To Day-Long Enjoyment. An estimated 50,000 attended Saturday's Great Fete, several thousand of them working steadily to make it a success for the benefit of the Princeton Medical Center. Fun, Food and Bargains were about equally represented in the 22 tents and the outdoor areas for games and rides. By mid-afternoon, 1,800 pieces of barbecued chicken had been eaten; nearly 4,000 hot dogs and hamburgers were grilled; 1,200 tacos went as fast as they could be filled; 1,008 quarts of strawberries and 175 home-made pound cakes went into strawberry shortcake; almost all the 1,400 hoagies had vanished; and uncounted bushels of salad, gallons of soft drinks, ice cream, pop-sicles and cotton candy galore had melted away before the hungry horde.

FETE PRIZES BEEFED UP: Albie Toto, Jr. of Toto's Market stands beside a hindquarter of beef which the store donated to the Hospital Fete for one of its prizes.

The happiest man at the Fete was Lee Maltenfort of South Orange, who won the Mustang Ghia II. Mr. Maltenfort has been bringing his family to the Fete every year for the last ten years, and earlier in the afternoon had been an unsuccessful bidder for one of the cars in the Auction, so this was, as he said, "Beautiful! Just beautiful!"

The quarter of beef donated by Toto's Market on Witherspoon Street was won by Mrs. Luci S. Robson of Princeton. Wally the Watchdog went to Jeffrey Hudgins, also of Princeton. Wally was the donation of the Toy Carousel in the Princeton Shopping Center. Andrea Kassof won the Artists Unlimited Contest sponsored by the Princeton Art Association; her prize is a four-week painting course conducted by Jeanne Morgan.

The Auction ran from 9 in the morning to 7 in the evening without a pause, and in the Children's Area games went on right up to closing time. The Balloon Tent filled nearly 2,600 balloons with helium for eager young customers and over at the Midway, Lora Jaffio lost count of the times

RABBI ORDAINED: Dr. Gerson D. Cohen (left), Chancellor of The Jewish Theological Seminary of America, congratulates Rabbi Jonathan Matt (center), at the ordination of the younger Rabbi Matt at the Seminary's commencement. The elder Rabbi Matt, who is also a Seminary graduate, gave the "scholar's prayer" to the Seminary graduates. His father, the late Rabbi C. David Matt, was a Seminary graduate, too, making that family one of three three-generation families of Seminary rabbis.

Byrne's Ability Rating Dips to All-Time Low; 81% Feel State Government Harbors Corruption

The public's rating of public's loss of confidence in his ability to deal with recent charges of corruption in state government," Dr. Salmore said. Only 13 percent feel that Byrne has dealt with the problem of corruption "extremely well" or "quite well," while 31 percent respond "not very well," and 42 percent, "fairly well." In February 1973 when former Governor Cahill's administration was under similar attack over charges of corruption, 21 percent thought Cahill was doing "extremely well" or "quite well" in dealing with these charges, while 25 percent said he was doing "not very well," and 43 percent said "fairly well."

The Legislature's rating has improved slightly with 28 percent giving positive ratings of "excellent" or "good," while 58 percent give negative ratings of "only fair" or "poor." Last March, 25 percent rated it "excellent" or "good," while 61 percent rated it "only fair" or "poor."

Dr. Stephen A. Salmore, Director of the New Jersey Poll, noted that, "This is the first time since we began polling in 1971 that the Governor's job rating has been lower than the Legislature's." Byrne's latest rating is the lowest he has received since he took office in January 1974.

"The sharp drop in Byrne's rating may be related to the "very corrupt" and 63 percent said "somewhat corrupt." Dr. Salmore said that "it would appear that Byrne's problems have more to do with the public's lack of confidence in his ability to deal with the problems of corruption in government than with concern over increasing levels of corruption in the state."

The Sixteenth New Jersey Poll was conducted by telephone from the Eagleton Institute of Politics, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J. between May 5 and 11, 1975. A scientifically selected random sample of 1005 New Jersey residents 18 years of age or over was interviewed.

Seniors Hear Dr. Goheen. Ninety-two Hun School seniors, graduating Sunday afternoon, were addressed by former Princeton University President Robert F. Goheen, who urged them to adopt a "spirit of independence, modified with a sense of humility and humor, and regard for others."

Headmaster Dr. Paul R. Chesebro presided at the ceremonies which marked the 61st graduation since the school's founding in 1914 by Dr. John Gale Hun. Ceremonies began with an invocation by the Reverend John D. Lane, of Charlotte, N.C., who graduated from Hun in 1962. Following the presentation of diplomas by Arthur G. Hailand, Jr.,

MEDAL TO DR. HILLIER
For Accomplishments at RCA. James Hillier, Executive Vice President, Research and Engineering, RCA Corporation, received the 1975 Industrial Research Institute Medal at the Institute's annual meeting last week in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. Established in 1945, it is given annually "to recognize and honor outstanding accomplishment in leadership or management of industrial research which contributes broadly to the development of industry and to the benefit of society."

The medal was given at a banquet honoring Dr. Hillier, whose home is at 22 Arretton Road. Dr. Hillier first came into prominence for his contributions to the early development of the electron microscope. After joining RCA in 1940, he designed the first commercial electron microscope to be made available in the United States.

He also pioneered the growth of electron microscopy as a research technique of wide importance in biology, medicine, chemistry, and other sciences. In a second career over the past twenty years, he has achieved further prominence as the head of one of the world's outstanding electronics research laboratories.

HONORED AS DIRECTOR

Adlerman Cited for Service. Mel A. Adlerman of Adlerman, Chick & Company, 15 Spring Street, a member of the Insurance Brokers Association of New Jersey, was honored at the annual meeting of the Association at the Landmark Inn, Woodbridge, by presentation of a scroll for meritorious service as a director.

The Insurance Brokers Association of New Jersey represents the more than 16,000 licensed insurance brokers in the state.

PROMOTION ANNOUNCED
To Senior Research Associate. Dr. George T. Kerr of 10 Pin Oak Drive, Lawrence Township, has been promoted to Senior Research Associate at the Central Research Division of Mobil Research and Development Corporation, Hopewell Township.

Earned by relatively few scientists at Mobil, the promotion was made in recognition of outstanding scientific achievement. Dr. Kerr has 20 patents and 35 publications to his credit, and has earned a reputation in the international scientific community as an expert in his field of inorganic chemistry and particularly in connection with a class of important compounds and structures known as crystalline zeolites. He has been with Mobil for 19 years.

SALES, PROFITS UP

At General Devices. Murray Medvin, Vice-President and General Manager of General Devices, has reported that gross revenues in 1974 increased to $11,382,225, compared to $7,028,185 in 1973.

In addition, operating profits rose to $276,776 pre-tax from $114,945 in 1973. He attributed these gains to improved manufacturing techniques, increased marketing efforts and a continued concern with cost reduction.

All three of General Devices' operating divisions operated profitably in 1974. Mr. Medvin reported. Contributing significantly was the 240 percent increase reported by Service Division and a 145 percent gain earned by Instrumentation Division.

Located at Ridge Road, Monmouth Junction, Instrumental Division was founded in 1953 to manufacture telemetering equipment and systems for industry and Government. Its efforts to adapt its aerospace technology to commercial and industrial applications have been quite successful in the last several months, and it is anticipated that in 1975 commercial sales will represent a fair portion of its business.

NEW BUILDING SHOWN

For Tennis Racquet Makers. The Maark Corporation, maker of aluminum tennis racquets, celebrated its move into new headquarters on Schalks Road in South Brunswick Township with an open house at the new building, which was designed by Jeremiah Ford of Short and Ford Architects, Princeton.

Present at the open house, along with officials, neighbors and friends, was tennis star Roscoe Tanner. Tanner plays the PDP Open racquet, one of Maark's products. Arthur Ashe, a devotee of Head racquets, also made by Maark, visited the new plant a few days earlier.

Mr. Ford has set the one-story office and factory building of pre-engineered steel in a mature stand of tall beeches and oaks, intending that the building, both inside and out, reflect the rural surroundings. The exterior walls of the office and reception area are white, those of the adjoining factory dark brown with a textured wood like surface. Inside, one looks out on nature on all sides, including the plantings in a central courtyard, where a number of the original trees have been kept. A mural showing the stages of development of a metal racquet is one interior design feature.

The contractor for the building was Belli Construction Company of Trenton. The interior decoration was done by Mrs. Ginge Budd, 46 Herrontown Circle, working in consultation with Ford.

Jay P. Wood, of New City, N.Y., won the James MacFadden Award for loyalty and sportsmanship, and Mary Pat McNulty of Trenton received the John L. Kuschke Award for outstanding achievement in extra-curricular activities. Anthony P. Trani of Princeton and Jay Wood shared the John R. Scott Memorial Award for excellence in athletics, sportsmanship, leadership and spirit. The Faculty Prize, awarded for development in character and reliability, also went to Trani. The Robert Strianese Memorial Award, for leadership and loyalty to the school, was awarded to Kenneth Rudd of West Orange.

Julie Kane of Princeton won the Charles Hollenbach Memorial Scholarship for the junior with outstanding proficiency in social studies, while Robert Innocenzi of Trenton received the Michael DeMauro Scholarship for the sophomore who displayed a high degree of courage, selflessness and readiness for service to the school.

PORSCHE '75

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE.

A new 1975 Porsche can be many things. It can be a Carrera (on top) with all the racing blood you could ask for in a high-performance sports car. Or a 911S with Targa styling (the middle one) which creates more excitement parked than most cars do in fourth gear. Or it could be a mid-engined 914 (the bottom one), a two-seater Porsche that combines everything you'd like in a sports car with everything you thought you had to give up (like 27 mpg*). But there is one thing these Porsches will never be—and that's like any car you've ever known. They are Porsches. With 25 years of Porsche engineering and design behind them. And for that, there is no substitute.

Earth Tremors Are Likely in New Jersey But Chances of Substantial Quake Are Slim

Despite the alarming tremors along the South Jersey coast last summer, chances of a substantial earthquake in the Garden State in the foreseeable future are remote.

In fact, according to Dr. Mark Houston, a young assistant professor of geology at Rutgers, there is "no evidence" that the disturbances in Cape May and Atlantic counties really were small earthquakes. By "small," Dr. Houston explained he meant a disturbance registering around two or three points out of 10 on a standard Richter seismograph scale. That is about the smallest magnitude detectable, just about enough to make houses shake slightly and dishes rattle for two or three seconds.

In the case last summer, he said, there was no evidence from outside New Jersey that there even was an earthquake on the shore. The famed Lamont-Doherty Geological Observatory on the Hudson's Palisades received reports of a minor disturbance but nothing registered on its instruments.

He also investigated the possibility that aircraft had created a sonic boom but a check with the Department of Defense and the Federal Aviation Administration showed there was no aircraft capable of creating a sonic boom in the area at that time.

Faint Tremors Possible. Dr. Houston said that minor disturbances, almost too faint to notice in some cases, can and do occur in almost any section of New Jersey.

From a thin pamphlet entitled, "Earthquakes in New Jersey," published in 1973 by the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection, he quoted a passage:

"The 'Border Fault' is probably the longest system of faults in New Jersey. It is the western border of the Triassic Basin and extends from Stony Point, N.Y., to Reading, Pa. The Ramapo section of this fault in Bergen county lies just west 0.5 to 1.5 mi. of U.S. Route 202.

"The fault, formed at least 200 million years ago, has not been active during the recent geological past. However, the area immediately to the east of it has been the site of several very minor tremors. This activity probably constitutes minor adjustments in the earth's crust, comparable to the cracking that develops in an old building as it settles."

One Two Years Ago. The last really noticeable earthquake in New Jersey of any size was on February 28, 1973, and extended from Mahwah, to Baltimore, Md., had a Richter scale magnitude of 3.8, and lasted six seconds. Police departments in the Trenton feel that the Garden State area received more than 50 calls reporting shaking and rattling dishes and tables and chairs jiggling.

A woman in Lawrence Township reported that her well water became muddy, and not far away in Philadelphia, where tremors were more severe, some residents reported being tossed out of bed.

There are only four stations for recording earthquakes in New Jersey. Still, a listener wondered, since earthquakes did not appear to be a significant factor in New Jersey, why did Dr. Houston need more earthquake observation stations?

"For several reasons," Dr. Houston said. "One is simply to keep more accurate records about minor movements of the earth's crust in this part of the world. Prior to his death in 1944, they had lived in "Morven," the ancestral Stockton family mansion which dates back to the early 18th century and was later the property of the Richard Stockton who signed the Declaration of Independence.

In addition to Mrs. Brush, she is survived by two other daughters, Mrs. C. Welles Little, of Hagerstown, Md. and Mrs. Robert L. Johnson of Bay Head; and a son, Bayard Stockton, 3rd, of Okkechobee, Fla.; 14 grandchildren and 23 great-grandchildren.

A memorial service will be held at Trinity Church on Wednesday, June 11, at 2:30.

Katherine Gauss Jackson, 71, of North Egremont, Mass., died May 21 of cancer in Fairview Hospital, Great Barrington, Mass. Daughter of the late Dean and Mrs. Christian Gauss, she lived during the early years of her life at 106 FitzRandolph Road while her father was a member of the Princeton University Faculty.

A native of Bethlehem, Pa., Mrs. Jackson was born May 20, 1904. At the age of 20, she graduated from Smith College and then spent three years as a member of the publicity staff at Princeton. She then became an assistant editor of Charm Magazine and from 1932 until 1938 served in a similar capacity for Scribner's Magazine.

The greater part of her career was spent with Harper's magazine, where she was both the book review and fiction editor. She began her association at Harper's in 1938, retiring 31 years later.

During that time, she wrote a column, "Books in Brief," and was in charge of Harper's book department. In her role as fiction editor, she was credited with being particularly helpful to young writers, among them Jessamyn West, whom she was the first to publish. Widely quoted, she was credited by an associate at Harper's with a reputation for "comments that were incisive and extremely perceptive."

Mrs. Jackson was the founder of Freedom House and served on its executive committee for many years. She was co-editor of "The Papers of Christian Gauss," which Random House published in 1957.

Andrew Jackson, her husband who was a New York lawyer, died in 1955. She is survived by a son, Stuart; twin sisters, Mrs. George S. Stephenson and Mrs. Douglas Steimle; a brother, D. Christian Gauss; and five grandchildren.

In its last match of the season, Hun was edged by an undefeated Princeton High School girls' team, 3-2. Usiskin defeated Vera Jesser in the number one singles match and Rentschler also won, but Crowley lost to Karen Clark in the number three singles.

After Gorenstein and Kane lost the number two doubles, which tied the match, PHS won when its Patty Rose and Leslie Krause defeated Leary and Cronin.

PRINCETON EXCELS

In Jr. Olympic Track. As in previous years, the Princeton Junior Olympic track team came away from the regional meet in Bridgewater with more than its share of trophies. In 45 events, Princeton entries managed to place in 32.

Standouts included Trey Conti, who won the junior 100-yard dash and 220-yard dash; Randa Shahbender, who won the 50 and 100-yard dashes in the junior division and also ran a leg on the girls first-place 440 relay team; and Jimmy Pittman who won the 100-yard dash and also contributed to the Bantam 440 relay crown with Jason Petrone, Scotty Fisher and Keith Goldfeld.

Other 440 relay team winners were the teams of Jane Ann Opperman, Tracy Kuhn, Melanie Goldfeld and Susie

Pennington Girl Fastest

Hilary Noden, a junior at Hopewell Valley High in Pennington, set a national high school record in the mile Saturday when she was clocked in 4:56.8 in the NJSIAA Girls Track and Field Championships in Holmdel. Her time also set a new school and Mercer County record.

It marked the third consecutive year that Miss Noden has won the NJSIAA Class B mile championship. She won the event last year in 5:06. Her previous best time set in a high school meet before last week's record was 5:03.9.

She will compete Saturday in the NJSIAA Meet of Champions to be held in Rutgers Stadium.

Haynes, who also finished second in the 100-yard dash and 880-yard run; and Kim Johnson, Annette Morrow, Kelly Wells and Ingrid Swenson in the 440 relay. Ingrid also finished second in the 50-yard dash.

The girls junior 440 relay team finished first with fine efforts from Nicki King, Randa Shahbender, Judy Grisham and Susan Wojciechowitz.

proaching the time when we can accurately predict when and where an earthquake will occur," he said. "Naturally we need information that is as full and complete as we can get to do this."

"We are trying to establish a seismic network to monitor earthquakes in the entire Northeastern region. Institutions in Maine, Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and Delaware have indicated that they will contribute to the network."

Work on earthquake prediction is particularly advanced in the United States, Russia and China, Dr. Houston said.

In mentioning that scientific predictions of earthquakes have become more than a dream, he cited an example. The Lamont-Doherty Geological Observatory was studying a series of shocks in the Blue Mountain Lake region of the Adirondacks on August 1, 1973, when it predicted that an earthquake of 2.5 magnitude would occur in "a couple of days."

Two days later such an earthquake did occur there.

Shock Waves from Alaska. Dr. Houston also pointed out that seismographs can be and are used to register shock waves from distant earthquakes. Many New Jersey wells became muddy from the shock wave following the earthquake that smashed Anchorage, Alaska, on Good Friday of 1964. Automatic recording equipment at nine observation wells in New Jersey recorded a fluctuation of up to two feet in the ground water level at the time.

In mentioning the predictions of geologists, Dr. Houston suggested that even geologists should pay more attention to what the predictions are. He, and others, have predicted flatly that there will be major earthquakes on the San Andreas fault, running from Lower California to about San Francisco, in the future. And yet one civil defense disaster headquarters is built right on the fault.

News Of The CHURCHES

RELIGION REVISTED
A Look Back 200 Years. Princeton Theological Seminary is sponsoring an educational two-week workshop on "Religion and the American Revolution" from June 16 to June 27. Such Princeton Seminary experts as John Mulder, American church historian, and Erik Routley, renowned English church musician, will join specialists from Rider College (co-sponsor of the project) and Princeton University to give workshop participants first-hand views of the way things looked, sounded, and tasted to church people in Revolutionary times.

There will be tours of 18th Century churches in both Philadelphia and New Jersey and of battlefields and museums, and participation in reconstructed 18th Century worship services, concerts of church music, dramas, slide shows—even an 18th Century banquet, featuring authentic food and drink.

Among the scholars who will provide the solid core of information needed to appreciate the tours are: Albright Zimmerman, professor of American History at Rider College; W. Frank Craven, recently retired professor of early American history at Princeton University; John Wilson, chairman of the University's department of religion; and Charles West, Richard Shaull, and Lefferts Loetscher, all professors at Princeton Seminary.

People are invited to enroll, either as commuters or as resident members. The cost will be $40 for tuition, $15 for registration, and $10 for trips. Half of the on-campus sessions will be conducted at Princeton Seminary and half at Rider College (five miles from Princeton on a direct bus line). Housing for those who wish to be in residence will be at Rider College; the fee of $80 will include board and room for eleven nights. If enrollment exceeds Rider's capacity, further housing will be provided at Princeton, at a somewhat higher rate.

For further information, or to enroll, call Dr. Chris Duffy, Rider College, 896-0800, extension 665.

RECITAL PLANNED
For New Pipe Organ. The First Presbyterian Church of Dutch Neck is planning an inaugural recital for a recently-completed pipe organ on Sunday at 7:30 p.m. Samuel Hutchison, a 1975 graduate of Westminster Choir College and organist of the Presbyterian Church in Westfield, will perform as guest organist.

An organ student of George Markey, Donald McDonald, Wilma Jensen and Robert Corwithen, Mr. Hutchison was a finalist in the 1975 National Organ Competition in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. He will play works of J.S. Bach, Louis-Claude D'Aquin, Jean-Francois Dandrieu, Jean Langlais, Dale Wood, Jehan Alain and Marcel Dupre.

The organ, designed and built by Robert M. Turner of Hopewell, is a two manual and pedal pipe organ having 12 voices, 14 ranks, 19 stops and 844 pipes. Most of the pipe-work was obtained from Holland and Germany, and some of the visible pipes, all of which are working, are mounted with the open end down.

NAMED COORDINATOR
Of Bicentennial Youth Debates. Father Francis X. Prior, C.M., principal of St. Joseph's Seminary, has been named sectional coordinator for the mid-Atlantic region for Bicentennial Youth Debates (BYD), a national program of public speaking activities for young people. Father Prior received his M.A. and Ph.D. in English from St. John's University, Jamaica, N.Y. He is president of the Trenton Catholic Forensic League and secretary of the New Jersey State Forensic League.

BYD is supported by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities and is a project of the Speech Communication Association. The program includes competitive events, with winners at the local level progressing through district, sectional and regional events to a national conference; and community

"THE HOUSE OF SEVEN ASSETS"

If you're looking for a home that is: 1) medium-sized, 2) pleasantly pretty; 3) clean as a whistle; 4) beautifully planted; 5) conveniently located; 6) reasonably priced; 7) doesn't need another penny spent on it — this is your house. Living room with fireplace and picture window, dining room with door out to the delightful screened porch, efficient kitchen with eating counter, large paneled family room, 4 cheerful bedrooms (one a huge, bright, top-level honey!) — all look out on the lovely evergreens, flowering shrubs, assorted trees and plants that give the house fine visual protection and eye appeal. LOOKS CAN BE DECEIVING

This newly listed brick and frame two-story in a pleasant Edgerstowne area looks from the outside like an appealing small house, but the inside opens up to provide ample living space for a large, multi-aged family. On the first floor are entrance hall, pretty living room with fireplace and sliding glass doors opening to the wooded grounds; dining room with bay window, cheery kitchen with eating space, 3 good bedrooms and 2 baths. The second floor consists of two spacious rooms, big enough for "dormitories" but with the cozy, eavesy appeal of attic hideaways, many built-in shelves and cabinets, and full bath. Most of the basement area has been handsomely finished into a fine big, light family room and a good study (usable as a 6th bedroom) and a half bath with plumbing for shower. In addition, there is a "game room" big enough for a ping-pong table and a utility-work room. The house is solid, well-built, in good condition, and attractive. Combine those assets with all that space and an excellent location, and we think you'll agree that this house is unusually fairly priced at $115,000

Three newly acquired George Bradshaw etchings. One especially desired view of the University chapel, seemingly the most difficult to locate. Another, "Bruton Parish Churchyard in Williamsburg," long off the market, and a very charming less known one of a mill. Perfect graduation, wedding, or retirement gifts with lasting meaning. (Also an etching of Nassau Hall by Bradshaw and one by Dawkan, 1764).

PRINCETON NEEDS

A GOOD COFFEE HOUSE

A place where all sorts of People can relax, come evening (or even afternoon), with their favorite coffee, pastry, or sandwich and where, on occasion, local artists might display their wares or entertainers themselves.

A young Princeton physicist and some friends have been thinking about such a place for a couple of years and could raise the capital to begin such a venture. However, long term success would be much more certain were the coffee house able to offer beer and wine, two items which require a liquor license - a rare and expensive object.

If you can suggest how a liquor license might be obtained (for example, if you could lend us one), please call 799-9017. Let's get together for a talk.

"ZUCCHINI"
Back in the Pot. Responding to success in the best theatrical tradition, Triangle Club is bringing back "American Zucchini" for a Reunion week-end run at McCarter, with performances at 8:30 this Friday, and 8 and 10 Saturday. Tickets at McCarter's box-office.
TOWN TOPICS' reviewer liked "Latin Story," the parody of "Love Story," "Love for the Psych Major," "I Never Want to Do a Fast Dance Again," and the audience-participation country and western turn "The musical deals with student life, and there's just a touch of nostalgia to make everyone feel at home."

WE PRESENT....
Actors for Intime. Summer Intime is announcing the names of its Murrury Theatre acting company for the season about to start, and there are familiar and newcomers on the list.
Georgine Freedman will appear in two shows for Intime this summer. She'll be Madame Rosepettle in "Oh, Dad, Poor Dad, Mama's Hung You in the Closet and I'm Feeling so Sad,"—that's the starter, scheduled to open the weekend of the Fourth of July—and she'll also appear in the closing play of the season, "Unhealthy to Be Unpleasant," opening in mid-August.

Anne Sheldon and her husband, Fred, will both appear in Intime's second show, "Charley's Aunt," due for July 17 opening. Anne Louise Hoffman is another actor planning to return. She'll be in "Voice of the Turtle," opening July 31.
Jim Shankman and Joseph Harbeson will both return for their second season. Other members of the company are Winnie Holzman and Eric Zwemer, who worked with Theatre Intime this past season, Kate Stewart, Lisa Burns and technical director Taylor Blanchard.
Directors will be Peter Schifter, Yale Drama School graduate who will be in charge of "Oh, Dad;" Brendan Burke, who will do "Charley's Aunt," and Mr. Shankman who will direct the children's show, "The Golden Goose" (August 2, 3, 4 and 5).

GOOD NEWS!
Corporations have Boards of Directors to whom the top executives report the "state of the business". We like to think of you, our customers as an unofficial Board; because you influence our actions in the same direct way through your acceptance or rejection of our offerings. The Swains, the current "executives" of The Peacock Inn are most cognizant of your direction.
The Good News is that the month of May, 1975, was the best month in the 107 months* (well actually 3240 days) that we've been operating the Inn. Best total sales, best gross profit, best net.
*(It's only 756 months since 1912 when the Inn began.)
Maybe it's the delightful seafood we've been featuring. Or the new cocktail bar. Or the "old" reopened Peacock Alley Bar. Or the pleasant response to our garrulous advertising. Or Bicentennial tourism. We're not sure, but thank you just the same.
Perhaps it's time again for you to get a little group together and have another "board meeting" at the Peacock Inn. At Luncheon, Dinner or Cocktails.

climax the season. Deadline for registration: June 21. Inquiries should be directed to Summer Intime, Murray Theatre, Princeton.

MOHRMAN RE-ELECTED
As Players President, Joanne Mohrman was re-elected president of Princeton Community Players at the annual meeting of the organization last week. It's her second term.

Curt Hall was re-elected vice-president for production and Rick Grippaldi was re-elected treasurer. New officers elected are Mary Wisnovsky, vice-president for promotion; Bea Washburne, vice-president for membership and Judith Forusz, secretary.

Five new trustees were elected to three-year terms on the 15-member board. They are Irma Bantham, Jeanne Delgado, Judith Forusz, Mary Wisnovsky and Lorin Zissman.

This summer, Players will make structural changes in their Broadmead theatre to improve audience sight lines, and will also catalogue and organize the Players' costume collection.

Volunteers--whether members or not--who would like to help in these tasks are invited to call Mrs. Mohrman at 896-9349 or Mrs. Hall at 883-4357.

"6 RMS RIV VU"
At PHS. Senior drama students will present Bob Randall's comedy, "6 Rms Riv Vu" this weekend in Room 250 (the choir room) at Princeton High School. It will be the final production of the year at PHS.

Performances will be given at 8:30 this Friday and Saturday. Tickets, at $1 for students and $1.50 for adults, will be on sale at the door.

Adrienne Brockway, assisted by Debbie Pehta, is directing. The cast is headed by Chris Negus, playing the part of a 33-year-old copywriter who is bored with his "do-nothing generation" and Miriam Lewin, a young mother who is tired of sorting socks. They are unexpectedly locked in an apartment and come to know one another--better.

Other characters are a superintendent (played by Eric Hollander), a pregnant woman (Susan Cooper-Smith) and her husband (John Chow) who are apartment-shopping, the woman in 4A (Kitty Brown) who owns a large Doberman pinscher and the two spouses of the copywriter and the sock-sorter: Nick Halpern and Meg Starr.

Margaret Wasilewski is in charge of costumes and Susan Cooper-Smith of props. Adrienne Brockway has supervised set design, and Don Gilpin (Faculty assistant for the production) is head of set construction. Steve Ludlum designed the lights, Mark Boyd will run lights and sound, and Pat Perrine is in charge of house.

OFF TO TORONTO....
For Regional Ballet. For the eighth year in a row, the Princeton Regional Ballet has been chosen to appear at the public performances of the Northeast Regional Ballet Association's annual dance festival. It will be held this weekend in Toronto.

The Princeton company will present "Cadences," a new work choreographed by Ruth Langridge, head of the Princeton Ballet Society's modern dance department and a member of the dance faculty at Princeton University. She has set the work to the piano music of Henry Cowell.

New works by three members of the Regional company will be performed at the Young Choreographers Dance Forum at the festival. Sherry Alban's "Scherzo," Lynne Dennis' "They Won't Go When I Go," and Susannah Cohen's "Earthword" will be presented.

To help defray transportation costs, a flea market will be held Saturday, June 21, under the auspices of Princeton Ballet Society board members Phyllis Kane, Elinor Lamont and Lavinia Rosenthal.

Dratfield, Maxwell. Great songs by great composers of popular music will be featured this weekend in the Artists Showcase Theatre (1150 Indiana Avenue, Trenton), when singer Lee Dratfield and pianist Sandy Maxwell combine their talents in "Great Songs, Great Singers, Great Composers."

The cabaret-style presentation will be given this Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday at 7:30 p.m. Tickets, at $3.50, may be ordered at 392-2433, or purchased at the door.

Kurt Weill and Jacques Brel are the composers for the first half of the program. Ms. Dratfield will sing such songs as "Mack the Knife," "Bilbao," "Brussels," "Sons of," "Carousel" and "Marieke." For the second half of the program, she has chosen Cole Porter's "I Love Paris," followed by several Chevalier and Edith Piaf songs: "Mimi," "If the Nightingales," "If I Could be With You." This part of the program will also include "La Vie en Rose," "You Will Find Your Love in Paris," and "The Best Things in Life," to which Mr. Maxwell has composed a new verse: "Great Songs Belong to Everyone...." The program will conclude with Weill's "Jenny."

Esther Seligmann is serving as director and Jim Hopkins as artistic director. Mr. Maxwell, accompanying almost all the songs, is music director.

In Third Season, "Theatre-by-the-Lake," operating at the Peddie School in Hightstown, has announced try-outs for the production that will launch its third summer season.

It's to be "Sweet Charity," and the several leading roles require dancing and singing skill. There is also an ensemble of people who must be able to dance, sing and act.

Auditions will be held next Wednesday and Thursday, June 11 and 12, at 7 p.m. in Geiger-Reeves Hall, on the Peddie campus (South Main Street, Hightstown).

All rehearsals will be week-day evenings between 7 and 10 for four weeks. The production is scheduled for July 10, 11 and 12. Jeffrey R. Holcombe and Francis A. Towne are directing. They are also looking for backstage crews.

LEARN ABOUT ACTING.

From Studio Theatre. Learn about acting, not necessarily to act—although that, too—but to be more discriminating when you go to the theatre. That's one aspect of this summer's Studio Theatre offering: a special three-hour evening class (Monday or Tuesday) for adults.

The course, open to beginning or advanced students or to mere observers, will cover improvisational techniques and acting. The beginning actor and the future professional will have an opportunity to learn more about technique, and the non-actor will get an introduction to technique and will learn what's involved in acting. Teachers will be David E. Eliet and Anne W. Scurria.

Classes will start Monday, June 30, and will run for six weeks. The Studio Theatre will also have daytime classes in creative dramatics, acting, movement and improvisation. Private tutoring in directing, playwriting and design is also available. Information may be obtained by calling 201-359-4341 or 359-2844.

PRINCE

Lion in Winter. First released in 1968, this is a soaring drama starring Peter O'Toole as King Henry II of England and Katherine Hepburn as his wife, Eleanor of Aquitaine.

Also involved are Henry's three sons, John, who he has chosen to succeed him; and Richard and Geoffrey. Eleanor favors Richard to succeed to the throne. Also, 17-year old King Philip of France and Philip's sister, Alais Capet who is Henry's mistress. Alais is betrothed to Richard.

All the action takes place on a single day and there is a tremendous amount of political and historical background that must be etched in. As one can readily see, the characters and their relationships are complex and intricate.

For Henry, the way of life is intrigue... and no less so for Eleanor. The film is really a struggle between the two to gain the upper hand, playing son against each other or against parent or whatever is necessary to win. In reality, though, Eleanor is no match for Henry.

What lifts the film to excellence is that all of this interplay is accomplished with lines that are metered like poetry, loaded with wit and irony and consistent with the characters who speak them. The translation from the Broadway play by the same name to a film that uses the cinematic language to the fullest extent is one of the real achievements of the director.

The performances by O'Toole and Hepburn are flawless.

BY THEIR OWN circulation figures, no other newspaper comes close to matching TOWN TOPICS' ability to take your advertising into every home served by the Princeton Post Office.

PLAYHOUSE
The Passenger. Starring Jack Nicholson as an alienated journalist who takes the identity of a dead stranger and steps into a tragic mystery, "The Passenger" is Michelangelo Antonioni's most accessible film since "Blow Up." Still, it is a bit too cold and elusive to be fully satisfying.

Nicholson is a British TV journalist who has been engaged in a futile search for a local guerilla leader in North Africa. Frustrated, he returns to his hotel room where he finds a fellow guest dead from a heart attack. He is struck with the thought of exchanging identities and he does, switching passport photos and possessions and reporting his own death.

It is gradually revealed that the job of the dead man whose identity Nicholson has taken is fraught with danger. Even more important to Nicholson, however, is the need to escape a failed marriage and the purposelessness in his career.

"SUMMER SOUNDS."
Free Community Concerts. The sweet sounds of music on the summer air---that's "Summer Sounds," a series of eight free neighborhood musical evenings to be held this summer in various outdoor settings around town. Representatives of the Arts Council, the Recreation Department, Princeton University and the Princeton Youth Fund have set guidelines and arranged the events. All ages and tastes will find a tune to hum.

The first concert will be "Free and Easy," to be held the evening of the last day of school and high school graduation, Friday, June 13, from 7:30 to 9:30 at Pardee Field. It has been designed especially for youth. Next, Dixieland jazz on the Princeton Shopping Center mall Thursday, June 26, at 7:30. Then, Big Bank Night at Battletield Park, Thursday, July 10 at 7:30 also. The second youth concert will be held Thursday, July 17, at the same hours as the first concert. Details later.

The Folk Music Society will take over Westminster Choir College's quad on Thursday, July 24, at 7:30, and the gospel group, the United Voices of Princeton will be on Nassau Green in front of Nassau Hall, at 7:30 on Thursday, August 7. "Sweet Adelines" and Barbershop Quartets

Youth Help Needed

Are you young and full of volunteer spirit? You're needed to help with the new "Summer Sounds" music program to be launched in town this summer. Three of the concerts are geared to youth. Youth volunteers are needed to handle publicity, to deal with whatever handbill distribution the sponsors decide on, to work out transportation arrangements for people who need rides, and for other jobs that may turn up as the summer moves on. Volunteers may call Denise King at the Recreation Department, 921-9480.

(SPEBSQSA") will harmonize at Princeton High on Thursday, August 21, at 7:30, and the final concert, a blue grass jam session at Pardee field, will conclude the series on Thursday, August 28. Rain dates will be the following evenings--Fridays--except that the June 13 rain date will be Thursday, June 19. The Princeton Youth Fund is financing a bare-bones budget of $1,500; some performers can waive fees, the Recreation Department is providing full staff assistance.

News of the Theatres

When he discovers his wife is searching for details of his "death," escape becomes his prime drive.

In Barcelona, Nicholson meets up with Maria Schneider (of "Last Tango"), who urges him to carry on the plans of the man whose identity he has taken. The situation is intriguing, combining Hitchcock with a dose of Kafka, but Antonioni chooses to concentrate less on drama than on alienation. Beyond the intellectual exercise of puzzling out the ambiguities and loose ends there is little to spark the emotions. Visually, the film is another story. Antonioni's technique and brilliant eye for composition, texture and color are unsurpassed. He achieves unbelievable effects with his camera with grace and ease. Nicholson seems incapable of a poor performance. Miss Schneider plays the girl as a tried sounding board, eliciting information without a drop of feeling.

MONEY NEEDED

By Street Theatre. A door-to-door fund-raising campaign is now under way by supporters of Street Theatre. Cutbacks in the Recreation Department budget have caused the department to withdraw its previous support from Street Theatre, and although the Princeton Youth Fund is dipping into its resources, more is needed. So far, S.T. has almost $1,000 from Princeton residents. The door-to-door solicitors come around on Sunday afternoons--Borough and Township. Street Theatre has applied to the New Jersey State Council on the Arts, but no decision will be announced until July 1, and Street Theatre's season starts June 16.

"SOLSTICE REVELS"

Arts Festival in Trenton. "Kaxpiksu--The Solstice Revels," described as a "major performing arts festival," will be held the weekend of June 14 and 15 in the New Jersey State Museum in Trenton. The festival, free to the public, will be held from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturday and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. Creative works of more than 20 artists and groups from across the state will be presented.

There will be multimedia environment in the auditorium, experimental video in the science theatre, interpretive sight-sound in the planetarium and various dancers, musicians, mimes and poets performing in exhibition galleries or on the lawns and terraces adjacent to the Museum.

Among New Jersey artists participating are Hugh and Suzanne Johnston of Princeton, film-makers who will present their film, "Sculpture in the Open," describing sculptures in the out-of-doors Putnam collection at Princeton University.

A NEW BAKERY OPENS
Bagels a Specialty. After 15 years of making bagels from New York to California, David Barth who refers to himself as "the traveling bagel baker" joined with another baker, Joel Bornstein in searching for their own shop. Although their original intention was to open a bagel bakery, they broadened their concept to a full line of baked goods when the Balt Pastry Shop was offered for sale. David said, "We knew Princeton needed a good bakery and we had to please the public." Thus, the recently opened Princeton Bagels and Pastry Shop was born.

A baker's day is a long one—possibly one reason this is Princeton's only bakery. In order to have hot danish and bagels ready by a 7 a.m. opening, the first baker arrives at midnight and the others follow throughout the morning.

In spite of the fact that the Shopping Center is not yet open, each day Joel and David have found people waiting for the doors to be unlocked. They feel the response has been terrific, and looking at the selection it is easy to see why.

In the cases you'll find at least 10 different bagels—poppy, garlic, sesame, cinnamon-raisin, egg, salted, plain, and several others. There are special ones for the holidays, and small ones for cocktail parties, 14 cents for the large and $1 for 12 of the small. David represents a third generation of bagel bakers and we doubt there is anything about this particular food he doesn't know. His grandfather was an old-fashioned Jewish-style pretzel baker who switched to bagels. His father baked bagels too, and David after a few years off at college decided to continue the family tradition.

Beyond Bagels... They feel their customers like a variety and they have been working hard to provide this. The day we visited you could choose eclairs, strawberry shortcake, pineapple upside down cake, lemon meringue pie, seven layer cake or banana cream pie for desert.

We also saw hard rolls and breads—our favorite being the handsome twisted egg bread, doughnuts, cupcakes, cookies, coffee rings, danish and several kinds of cheese cake.

The prices range from 30 cents for a fruit danish to $1.50 for the lemon meringue pie to $2.50 for the strawberry shortcake. A full sheet cake decorated any way you want is $18 (orders should be placed a day or two ahead), and lemon-filled extra birthday cakes already frosted with flowers and ready for an inscription are $3.75.

There are samples daily for you to try; and if you are an early morning customer or just taking break later in the day, there is hot tea and coffee to go with your bagels or danish. Another feature is a dairy case of convenience foods such as milk, juice, two kinds of lox, pre-packaged spreads and cream cheese.

Although the shop looked bustling to us, David and Joel both say they are still settling in. Their future plans include a grand opening to come shortly, bagel sandwiches and a line of dietetic baked goods (cookies are already here.)

Princeton Bagels and Pastry Shop, located at the Princeton Shopping Center, is open Tuesday through Saturday from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. with Thursday and Friday evening hours until 9, and on Sundays from 7 to 3.

EXPRESSIONS OPENS
In Shopping Center. How many women dream and talk about the store they someday hope to own? Long-time Princeton resident, Ellen Gellner, is one of the fortunate ones, because a few months ago when she bought International Arrivals, her plans became a reality.

Now called Expressions it remains an excellent gift shop with one of the best card and paper goods sections we have ever seen. In addition to a full line of Hallmark cards, there are the Gordon Fraser, Paw Prints, Panda Prints and Workshop ones.

And, regardless of your party theme you'll find plates, napkins, tablecloths, cups, invitations and even centerpieces to match. Currently there are graduation and wedding ones, but we also saw plates with spring flowers or mushrooms, calico flowers, a bandana print and one with a large green frog. Solid sets are here too if you care to mix or match.

With summer in mind Mrs. Gellner has added many items. Most popular are the plastic dishwasher-proof glasses and matching trays in green, yellow, orange or frosted, with red and blue ones due in any day. Eight old-fashioned sets cost $7 and the tray is $3.50.

However, if you prefer glass itself, we noticed some delightful sets. There are glasses decorated with bluebirds, stylized daisies or frogs hiding in the tall grass; and for the golfer or tennis player there are two special sets which include six each of glasses demonstrating the appropriate swing or stroke, club or racket stirrers and coasters shaped like balls, $14.

We also liked the clear plastic salad set with six bowls and serving pieces, $14; the Salton ice cream maker in the delicious colors of strawberry, vanilla or chocolate, $21.95; and the Lion's Valley Stoneware planters shaped like animals such as a caterpillar with five openings, $2.50 to $20.

Expressions is continuing to carry excellent cooking materials such as the Le Creuset line which is currently on sale at 25 percent off. Other thoughts include food scales, $13.50; non-stick ice cream scoops, $7.50; a special lemon squeeze pitcher, $8; or a brightly colored metal napkin press, $4.50.

Particularly pretty is a new line of moderately priced oven-to-table cookware with different green herbs on the white background. Ramekins are $2 each, a quiche pan $13 and a large casserole $21.

Father's Day is approaching and for his leisure moments Dad might like a traveling backgammon set, $12.50; an Italian glass cocktail shaker filled with golf balls, $7.50; or a pressurized can to prolong the life of his tennis balls, $8.

There is also a handsome set of wood and chrome barbecue tools by Verity Southall priced from $9.95 for the fork to $17.95 for tongs. However, for most children these prices are too expensive and Mrs. Gellner has thoughtfully provided some smaller gift suggestions, such as a magnetic paper clip dispenser complete with 100 clips or a barbecue cookbook by Potpourri Press, $1.30 and $1.50 respectively.

Expressions, at the Princeton Shopping Center, is open Monday through Saturday from 10 to 5:30 with Thursday and Friday evening hours until 9.

No bones about it...

In these unsettled times, the last thing in the world you should have to worry about is the security of your money. And at First Jersey Savings we're more secure than ever... $200 million strong... and still one of the largest savings associations in the state. And your savings are insured up to $40,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

But, in addition to security for your money, you also want growth. And at First Jersey Savings we continue to offer liberal interest rates, including a 7.50% a year with an effective annual yield of 7.90% on 4 to 7 year Celestial

When you add the two together, it equals security with growth... which is what First Jersey Savings is all about.

*Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal from savings certificates. Annual yields are earned when principal and interest are left on deposit for a full year.

All rates are compounded continuously and credited quarterly.

Refugee Relocation Queried.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
This letter is really a query: what are Princeton's charitable institutions doing to rehabilitate the Vietnamese refugees who are now entering the country in ever larger numbers? There have been countless stories in the Times, but to our knowledge nothing in Town Topics.

Would your paper consider running a front-page box giving the names and telephone numbers of local organizations engaged in the nationwide relocation program? (It would also be a great service to list the local businesses and persons willing to offer support in the way of jobs, homes, money or time.)

CARL FAITH
199 Longview Drive

Editor's note: The Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross, 924-2404, which has been giving counsel and acting as a medium of communication in the refugee situation, has been directed also to assist in the verification of the willingness and ability of American citizens to sponsor refugees to whom they are related by blood or marriage. The Red Cross is also responding to inquiries concerning non-related persons, and if there is an individual who cannot meet the State Department requirements for a sponsorship, will attempt a joint sponsorship with a resettlement agency.

A group from the Interfaith Council is investigating sponsorship of two refugees through the Church World Service, one of the several resettlement agencies.

Commercials Protested.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I recently attended a performance at the Montgomery Center Theater and was shocked and dismayed to find that the program started with at least half a dozen filmed commercials for local businesses. I feel that this is an unwarranted imposition on people who have paid their money (actually advanced prices in this case) to see a program of their choice. The increasing chorus of boos and hisses made it clear that a large part of the audience felt similarly.

Once something like this gets started, there is no telling how it will proliferate. I have protested to the management and urge other customers so inclined to do likewise.

Woman Freeholder Urged.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I have learned that, among the candidates being considered for the open position on the Board of Freeholders seat, only one is a woman. Barbara Sigmund is a candidate for the post who should not be bypassed.

As a member of the Princeton Borough Council she has demonstrated an ability to improve the delivery of human services at both the local and county government levels. Most recently she has led the work for improved mass transportation in the county through the "Save the Dinky" Committee. Her voting record in the Princeton Borough Council and her role in the Mercer County Planning Council for the Integration of Social Services demonstrate a continuing interest in this area. At the same time Ms. Sigmund has been sensitive to issues of concern to women in the county, for example, through her support of flexible working hours.

I am delighted that such a well qualified woman is under consideration, and urge you to appoint Ms. Sigmund, Freeholder.

Thanks from Grateful Parents.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

There are a few Princeton families that have been fortunate enough to have had children who have passed through the public pre-school program in this community. For those of you who were not aware of the existence of this program it might be explained simply as two classes of four to five-year olds who will be ready for kindergarten the following year. If one examined these classes more closely it would be noted that the groups were small, about 12 to 15 children, and that about half the children were in need of a little extra boost before their formal school careers began.

Mrs. Dorothy Brecht and Mrs. Elaine Marshall have been teaching these classes for some years now. As a parent of a child in Mrs. Marshall's group, and a weekly volunteer and observer, I would like to say that an extraordinary job is being done.

This June the Princeton Pre-school Program is ending and there are many of us who feel this to be a special loss to our community. I am taking this opportunity to speak for all of the grateful parents who have had their youngsters enrolled in these classes.

Thank you, Dorothy and Elaine, for the kindness, patience and skill you have shown with our children!

Support for School Board.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

If ever there was a time when the Princeton school board needed expressions of support from the community, it is now! The board needs to hear that the Princeton community is 100 percent behind them in their efforts to replace McPherson as the superintendent of schools.

One does not have to be an expert on education to sport the floundering of McPherson's administration of the schools. Attend a school board meeting and listen to him.

By his own admission, he has never given the school board any more information on an issue than he thought they should have. That attitude made the McPherson-Board relationship unworkable from the beginning.

At public meetings, McPherson offers a variety of excuses for not answering questions: the problem was delegated to Connie, Charley, Wes; or, he left the pertinent information on his desk; or, he'll look into it and get back to the questioner. Very often, when he does speak on an issue, he rambles pointlessly, stringing computerese and psychological jargon together until listeners are both embarrassed for him and irritated.

McPherson has managed to convey the message that staff, board and community members who oppose his modern ideas and innovative programs are rigid, old fashioned and threatened by change. In contrast to that impression, is the curious fact that after McPherson had ramrodded thru one innovative program after another in the schools he never gave the slightest indication in public of caring when they collapsed one after another. They were carelessly put together and practically unnoticed by him afterward.

McPherson states that one of his educational goals is to insure that every child develop a sense of personal power. If they did, they could never live in Princeton with McPherson as superintendent of schools. McPherson expects a rubber stamp board, an unquestioning staff, and an uncomplaining community!

Urge McPherson to state his educational philosophy and he runs thru "a line" about sex, religion, race, and equality for all. If, in 8 years, he had taken the one concrete step which would implement equality—the provision for a sound, basic education for all—his sincerity could sound less hollow.

McPherson wonders if the school board thinks he has emphasized the social development of children too much. It is possible for children to learn social skills within their families, at the Y,

School at 10:30. The round trip of approximately 15 miles over flat to slightly rolling terrain will be a ride to and an escorted tour of the West Windsor campus of Mercer County Community College with an early afternoon return.

PHONE FIRE ON FILM

Available for Showing. The massive efforts required to restore telephone service through a fire-ravaged New York switching center is the subject of a film now available for public showings from New Jersey Bell telephone Company. It is suitable for both school and adult audiences.

The 22-minute feature, "Miracle on Second Avenue," begins in the smoke and flames that ripped through an 11-story building for more than 17 hours before it was extinguished by the efforts of 700 firemen. The blaze knocked out service through 12 central offices serving a vast area of lower Manhattan and silenced more than 170,000 telephones. The film shows units of the Bell System moving into action and captures the dedication of 4,000 telephone people who worked around the clock for 23 days to restore service.

Schools, youth groups, fraternal and civic organizations which would like to borrow the color film may do so, without charge, by contacting their New Jersey Bell business office.

in Scouts, at dancing class, etc., but there is only one place to learn to read—IN SCHOOL!

The child who doesn't learn to read with relative ease during the first years of school faces failure and misery through the rest of his educational experience. How has Princeton tolerated Huchet (Special Services) who after eight years and close to a million dollar budget this year alone, has been unable to figure out how to set up a sound, functioning remedial reading program in the Princeton schools?

How do we forgive this?

Is one measure of an administrator the calibre of people he chooses as his close advisors? McPherson's educational experts are Vieland, Huchet and Johnson.

The school board made a very clear and a very negative "statement" about their confidence in McPherson and his advisors, when they arranged to "deputize" Ron Novak, the Business Manager, to cover the superintendent's job in an emergency.

Let's give the school board the wholehearted support it needs to replace McPherson as superintendent of our schools.

Jersey Neuropsychiatric Institute will begin with orientation on Wednesday, June 25, at 9:30 a.m. Volunteers with varied backgrounds are needed for different areas of the Institute.

NJNPI has programs in music therapy, recreation therapy and occupational therapy. The grounds of the Institute provide a setting for many outdoor activities, including Casual Day Camp, which many of the long term patients look forward to all year long.

The children's section utilizes the services of volunteers in a program that is less structured than the winter one and more geared to the outdoors. Swimming is an important activity for both children and adults.

All volunteers will be under the supervision of professional staff, who will also provide on the job training. The minimum age is 16, those between 16 and 18 need parental permission and there is no maximum age. Time requirements vary, depending on the position.

Further information and a personal interview may be obtained by calling Mrs. Ruth Meadow, volunteer services director, 466-0400.

BILL PASSED

Prohibiting Premature Tax Payments. The New Jersey Senate last week passed legislation prohibiting banks and mortgage companies from increasing property tax payments on home mortgages until they have received official notice of increases in property tax rates.

The measure, sponsored by Senator Anne C. Martindell (D-14th District) is designed to protect homeowners from being charged more than is necessary by the banks that pay their property taxes for them.

According the Senator Martindell, "Many banking institutions, savings and loan associations, and mortgage companies are now requiring homeowners to increase their tax payments before property taxes are actually increased. And often these increases in payments turn out to be in excess of the actual increase in taxes. As a result, the homeowner's money accumulates in his mortgage escrow account for his bank to use."

"And in these hard times," continued Mrs. Martindell, "very few of us have spare cash for our banks and mortgage companies to play around with. This bill should eliminate excess payments into mortgage escrow accounts. It should help to give the consumer the use of his own money."

The bill was passed unanimously by the State Senate and will next be considered by the Assembly Committee on Commerce, Industry, and the Professions. Senator Martindell hopes to see her bill signed into law before the banks and mortgage companies begin anticipating tax increases next January.

BOOK FUND SET

As Memorial to Farrington. The Princeton Public Library has been designated recipient of funds for books in memory of Charles E. Farrington. Mr. Farrington, well-known Princeton attorney and resident who died May 13, was Deputy Director of the Mercer County Board of Chosen Freeholders. Between 1959 and 1967 he served in the New Jersey State Assembly.

Funds for this special library collection are being contributed by friends, associates and organizations. Three citizens have volunteered to serve on an advisory committee to assist the Library in identifying and selecting items that will be of practical and useful value to a wide range of Princeton and area residents. They are Duane Lockard, Professor of Politics at Princeton University; Simon Marcson, Professor of Sociology, Graduate School, Rutgers University; and Robert van de Velde, Professor of Public and International Affairs, Woodrow Wilson School, Princeton University.

This gift of books and other materials will assist the Library in meeting the growing demands upon its circulating and reference collections. It will be known as the Charles E. Farrington Memorial Book Fund in Public Affairs. Checks for the project should be made payable to the Princeton Public Library.

STRAWBERRY FEAST SET Saturday at YWCA. The YWCA will hold its second annual Strawberry Festival Saturday at Avalon Place

Poll Shows Withdrawal from Southeast Asia Is Believed to Have Damaged U.S. Prestige

The collapse of the American position in Southeast Asia has caused concern among New Jerseyans about the United States' position in the world and the effect of the refugees on the economy. The latest New Jersey Poll, conducted by the Eagleton Institute of Rutgers University, finds that almost 4 out of every 10 respondents (37 percent) feel that the recent events in Vietnam and Cambodia will affect America's position in the world while over 3 out of 10 (31 percent) mention the possible effects that the large influx of Vietnamese refugees will have on the state of affairs at home.

Loss of U.S. prestige and the inability of U.S. allies to trust its commitments are foremost in the minds of people mentioning our international relations. A woman in Ocean County is concerned that, "We have let down those people who were considered to be our allies, and they will take a second look at us."

A man in Jersey City comments, "The fall of Vietnam will be a day of infamy for us like Pearl Harbor. We violated our agreements, and I think it will have a shattering effect on the prestige of the United States."

On the other hand, many people see the fall of Vietnam and Cambodia as a time for a reassessment of our foreign policy. A woman from Bergen County looks forward to "a reassessment of commitments around the world—not necessarily a withdrawal into a shell, but a retrenchment to reach a better understanding of America's role in the world as it exists now..."

The influx of refugees from Vietnam is seen by many people as creating problems for the economy. Almost 27 percent mention problems they anticipate from the refugees, while only 4 percent speak of our commitment to them. The most frequently mentioned concerns are that the addition of the refugees to the job force will cause worse unemployment and that those refugees not employed will be added to the welfare rolls.

Most respondents feel that Vietnam and Cambodia will be an issue in next year's Presidential elections. Almost 4 in 10—38 percent—say the events in Vietnam and very important in that election, 29 percent say they will be somewhat important, while only 27 percent say they will not be very important and 7 percent have no opinion.

The feeling that Vietnam and Cambodia will be an important issue is strongest among Democrats and groups traditionally associated with the Democratic liberals, middle income and blue-collar workers, and non-whites. Republicans, upper income and white-collar workers tend to discount the impact of Vietnam on next year's elections.

The Sixteenth New Jersey Poll was conducted by telephone from the Eagleton Institute of Politics, Rutgers University, between May 5 and 11, immediately before the fall of Vietnam and Cambodia to Communist forces and before the capture of the Mayaguez. A scientifically selected random sample of 1005 New Jersey residents 18 years of age or over was interviewed.

Did you know that a woman once batted in a regular major league baseball game?... It happened in a game between the Cards and Reds, July 31, 1935... In the last of the 8th, a woman walked on the field, picked up a bat, went to the plate, and motioned to Cardinal pitcher Paul Dean to throw the ball... Everyone was too surprised to stop her -- and Dean threw a pitch... The woman hit a grounder to first, ran down the line, then went back to the stands, and the game continued. It was the only time a woman ever batted in a major league game.

Here's an oddity. Although America has many great tennis players today, did you know that for 12 years, from 1956 through 1967, no American player won the U.S. Tennis Championship held every year at Forest Hills? In 1955, American Tony Trabert won it, but then a foreign player won it every year till 1968 when Arthur Ashe of the U.S. took the title.

Did you ever wonder in which big league park the most home runs are hit, and in which park the fewest homers are hit? Last season, the most homers were hit in Municipal Stadium, Cleveland (164), while the fewest were hit in Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium (79).

I bet you didn't know that mortgage life insurance is a great buy during inflationary times. Ask us. You might be surprised.

A Look at Next Fall: Loss of Walt Snickenberger Major Hurdle In Princeton's Path to Contender's Role in Ivy Football Race

When the Class of 1975 receives its diplomas Tuesday in front of Nassau Hall, 16 members of the Princeton football team will be among those completing their college careers. Seven of them were starters last fall, and six (not all of them starters) saw sufficient action that they won letters all three years they played on the varsity.

As the Orange and Black seeks to continue its return to football respectability, Coach Bob Casciola and his staff are fully aware that replacing a number of the current seniors will not be easy. Although none was accorded a place in the National Football League draft in January, five (Walt Snickenberger, Captain Tom Schalch, Tony Biagas, Bob Harding and Larry Cheshier) were offered free-agent contracts by the Boston Patriots.

Walt Snickenberger
Records by the Yard

44 passes, five for touchdowns. Both his skill as a receiver and his blocking ability will be difficult to replace next fall.

Napier, a split end, won letters in his first two years on the varsity, largely as a member of specialty teams, but was nudged to the sidelines last fall by personnel that proved superior at both split end and flanker back.

Offensive Tackle: Tony Biagas, a 235-lb. tackle who can run 40 yards in five seconds and was accordingly switched from guard (where he lettered as a junior) to take enough action as a reserve to win a letter

Defensive Tackles: Captain Tom Schalch and Dale Spiegel. Schalch, for reasons that were hard to follow, was thought of far more highly here than around the league. The coaching staff had great faith in his diagnosis and execution, but he failed to make the second All-Ivy team or to qualify for other post-season recognition.

Nonetheless, he did contribute much to the team's improvement, and will leave a big hole to be filled. So will his counterpart on the other side of the defensive line, Dale Spiegel, who did not earn a letter until his final year but showed constant improvement while winning a starting assignment as a senior.

Linebackers: Dave Layton and Bruce Schirmer, both two-year letter winners, and Tom so that the performance gap is not glaring, there will be no one on the 1975 Tigers who will come close to achieving what Snickenberger did in his final year here. Named to the AP's third All-American team, he was the first Princetonian in a decade to achieve national ranking (Charlie Gogolak and Stas Maliszewski were the last.)

His 10.7 points a game placed him third nationally in this category; his 115.9 yards a game were good for 10th place; he set a one-season Princeton record of 16 touchdowns and he led the Ivy League in both rushing and scoring. No one will do all that anywhere near as well, and the question is whether a combination of backs headed by veteran quarterback Ron Beible can together make up for Snickenberger's absence.

Seven New Starters Needed. After the bad news comes the good. While there were other highly dependable players who saw their final action in the welcome 41-20 conquest of Cornell, only three starters graduate from the offensive unit and four others on defense. What's more, there are lettermen ready to step in for all of them--although they may not necessarily be slotted that way if other holdovers or a particularly promising sophomore deserves the first shot at one of the vacancies.

By positions, these are the 16 members of the Class of 1975 who must be replaced next season:

Offensive Ends: Bob Harding and Bill Napier. Harding's size (6-3, 220) plus adequate speed and good hands resulted in his use as a split end in his freshman year, fullback as a sophomore and tight end in his junior and senior years. In two seasons at the latter position, he caught advantage of his speed. A hard worker who thoroughly enjoyed combat, he was a key factor in the improvement of the line which resulted in a far better offense and a 4-4-1 record compared to 1973's disastrous 1-8 mark.

Running Backs: Snickenberger and Dave Mistretta. In addition to the quality statistics quoted above for Snick, it is worth mentioning that he takes with him the Tigers' career record in all-purpose rushing (receiving, ball carrying and kick returns) with a total of 3,173 yards and for kickoff return yardage with 684. He surpassed Dick Kazmaier in rushing and placed second behind Hank Bjorklund, and both of these players not only saw more action but had considerably better lines in front of them.

Mistretta was a quarterback turned running back who was almost always used in a reserve capacity but still played enough to win a letter every year.

Defensive Ends: Larry Cheshier and Rick Ecker. Cheshier was one of the more astonishing football players at Princeton. In the 1974 press book, he not only had no place on the depth chart among the top six players listed as candidates for defensive end, but they hadn't even gotten around to assigning him a number. His position was offensive tackle.

He'd played varsity basketball at Princeton, but not football, yet believed he could handle the latter sport, too. After he had talked the coaching staff into giving him a chance, they got around to believing in him so thoroughly that he earned a starting assignment well before the season was half over.

Ecker, like Cheshier, had won no letter until his senior year and went into the pre-season training period listed as an offensive guard. He saw

Martin, who earned three. All saw a sizeable amount of action but none had quite the size to handle the rigors of a regular assignment at this position. They take valuable depth with them.

Corner Backs: Glenn Pratt, a starter and three-year letterman; Bruce Hennemuth, another three-year letterman; Joe Skerpon, who won two, and Glen Brandimarte, who earned one in his senior year.

Pratt, who started his last 18 games at Princeton, was a key member of the Tigers' secondary, ranking high in tackles made and passes broken up. Hennemuth saw more action in his first two seasons, before losing his punting assignment to barefooted Mike Stein. Skerpon at 175 was unusually small but thoroughly capable; Brandimarte added depth when injuries sidelined more experienced players.

In addition to the 16 graduating seniors, two others—both letter-winners—will not be available next year. Both are offensive guards: Hank Healey will not play as a senior because of recurring injuries and Jerry Heller is leaving the squad for personal reasons.

The players and coaching staff will begin pre-season practice here in late August, with the Rutgers opener scheduled for September 27. Belief is that the team will move upward from last year's 3-4 finish in the Ivy League, which earned a fifth-place tie with Dartmouth.

A long-range estimate is that the Tigers can handle Columbia, Cornell and Penn without undue difficulty; should be able to defeat Brown and Dartmouth with good performances; and will find out whether they have a shot at the Ivy title for the first time since 1969 when they play Harvard and Yale.

PHS GIRLS BOW, 3-2

In State Tennis Final. "It was very sad, very exciting," said coach Carol Wimberg, after her Princeton High School girls tennis team had been edged, 3-2, Friday by Ramapo in the state finals held in Jadwin Gym. Until then, the girls had not been defeated all season in 20 matches.

As in Princeton's 3-2 victory over Cherry Hill East in the semi-final round, the finals came down to one last match, this one between Princeton High's Vera Jesser, the Little Tigers' number one singles player, and her opponent.

"She had done beautifully all season," said coach Wimberg. "As number one she has to play the best and it was a lot of pressure for a sophomore."

Vera won the first set easily, 6-1, but lost the second 4-6 and the third, to put an end to a tense afternoon. "It's a lot of strain on young kids," commented Mrs. Wimberg who quickly added, "Next year we're going to win the next 21." She doesn't lose a single starting player through graduation.

Against Ramapo, PHS took a lead when junior Michele Benjamin won, 6-2, 6-1, prompting Mrs. Wimberg to add parenthetically, "but then she always wins." Freshman Karen Clark won the number three singles in straight sets.

However, the PHS number one doubles of Patti Rose and Leslie Krause and the number two pairing of Ellie Rose and Vicki Phillips both lost in straight sets. "And there we were at 2-2," said Mrs. Wimberg.

Against Cherry Hill in the semis, PHS stayed alive when Karen Clark won her match after the teams were tied, 2-2. Earlier in the tournament, PHS had defeated Watchung, 4-1, and Metuchen, 5-0, in the quarter finals.

Although they failed to win the state crown, the PHS girls captured the Central District championship.

Last year, Mrs. Wimberg's first as coach, the Little Tigers also won the district

SPRING SPORTS AT 619

For Princeton Teams. According to the final figures, it was another very successful season for Princeton University's spring sports teams. The overall spring record for men's and women's varsity, freshman and junior varsity teams was 127-73-8, representing a winning percentage of .619.

The men's varsity teams (baseball, lacrosse, tennis, golf, heavyweight and lightweight crew and track) produced an overall mark of 51 wins, 35 losses and one tie for a winning percentage of .592. In Ivy League play, the men were 25-15-1 for a winning percentage of .622.

On the freshman side, (baseball, lacrosse, heavyweight and lightweight crew), the Tigers produced a total record of 27-11-0 for a percentage of .711. Junior varsity teams (golf, tennis, track and heavy and light crew) managed a 19-21-1 record for the spring season.

Three women's varsity teams (tennis, crew and lacrosse) were responsible for an overall 18-10-1 record, and a winning percentage of .638. On the Ivy side, the three teams were 4-4 for a .509 mark.

The most successful varsity teams this spring were men's tennis (11-0), golf (14-1) and lacrosse (8-6), while the women's varsity tennis (8-0) and crew (8-4) also enjoyed fine years.

Tennis produced most of the major League and tournament victories. The men's varsity team won its second straight Eastern Intercollegiate Tennis Association title with a perfect 9-0 EITA Mark, while the women's varsity captured the team championship at the Middle States and Seven Sisters Tournaments. The men's track team won the other major trophy when it nipped Rutgers and Seton Hall for the New Jersey College Championship.

EXHIBITION SCHEDULED

In Tennis at Lawrenceville. The number one ranked tennis pro in the Eastern Professional Tennis Association, Butch Seewagon, will team with Mrs. Ethel Kennedy at Lawrenceville School courts Sunday, at 1:30 in a charity match against former Davis Cup player Ham Richardson and Governor Brendan Byrne. The match is being held to raise money for the Trenton city program of the George Washington Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Van Blommesteijn, Once a Soccer Player, Drafted by New York Knicks in Basketball

Basketball at the Choate School and a career at Princeton that the basketball coach suggested should concentrate on soccer is hardly a formula that guarantees being drafted by the New York Knicks. But Tim Van Blommesteijn, the Princeton senior who was one of three Ivy League players selected in the NBA draft last week, can tell his grandchildren that was how he did it.

When the ram-rod thin (6-3, 165) resident of Roslyn, Long Island, came to the campus in the fall of 1971, Pete Carril had never heard of him. He did know that Choate was not exactly a secondary school court power and that, plus Van Blommesteijn's remark that he was on the freshman soccer team, led Carril to suggest that maybe it was a good sport to stay with.

By the time Van Blommesteijn had finished soccer, the class of 1975 basketball team was already well along in pre-season practice. Nonetheless, he reported to Art Hyland, then the freshman coach, and saw a fair amount of action in his first year.

For two seasons on the varsity, he rarely played before the second half, but toward the end of his junior year, the calls came more often and earlier in the game. Still, with Co-Captains Mickey Steurer and Armond Hill fixtures in the back court and more than 6-3 needed up front, it was a tough starting lineup to crack.

In the long uphill climb to success last winter, however, Pete Carril had to forget about height and a rugged forward line and go with ball handling. That suited Van Blommesteijn's speed, agility and quick thinking to a T, and down the February and March stretch as a Princeton starter, he caught the eye of Knick scouts.

The best place for that, of course, was Madison Square Garden, and that's where the Tigers fascinated many of the basketball lovers of America as they raced from an unseeded start to victory in the championship final. Taller, stronger, more experienced players confronted them on every team, but over a ten-day span they defeated Holy Cross, South Carolina, Oregon (conqueror of UCLA) and Providence. In the final three games, Van Blommesteijn contributed a scintillating 77 points while playing superb defense—and it was undoubtedly the latter skill that caught the eye of Knick coach Red Holzman.

Of the current crop of seniors in the Ivy League, only two from Penn and Van Blommesteijn were considered NBA material. John Beecroft, a fine Quaker guard, was a first-round pick of Kansas City-Omaha, and Ron Haigler, a lithe 6-8 forward, went to the Chicago Bulls in the fourth round.

Van Blommesteijn will now wait to see whether he is chosen in the ABA draft and if he is, will make his choice in the next fortnight. The Knicks rookie camp opens at the end of June. His chances as a ninth-round pick are not all that strong, of course, but how long were the odds against a freshman told "to stick with soccer" earning a place in the starting lineup of the NIT champions?

girls in scouting programs. The Council represents more than 8,500 cub, explorer and boy scouts from Mercer, Hunterdon, and Warren Counties.

The celebrity match is being held in conjunction with the Council's annual Scout Show. The Scout Show will be staged on the grounds of the New Jersey National Guard Armory, Eggerts Crossing, (off Route 206) Lawrence Township, from 1 to 8 Saturday, and from noon to 4 on Sunday.

ETS TOPS BANK

In Business Softball. The battle for first place in the National Division of the Princeton Business Softball League between Educational Testing Service and First National Bank became a battle of the fences, with ETS hitting over them and the bankers running into them chasing home runs.

In what was the closest game so far this season for either team, ETS held a one-run lead going into the bottom of the sixth, and opened up with two home runs by Willie Turner and Pete Simonelli with one man on to put the game away, 8-4. Turner's homer was his second of the evening, helping Bones Gilbert pitch his way to his fourth straight win.

McGraw-Hill defeated RCA (A), 7-5, to maintain its hold on first place in the American Division on the strength of brothers, Tom and Bob, Wood, 2 for 3 hitting. Tom had 2 RBI's and Bob had 3.

Sharing first place with McGraw-Hill is Norelco, which blasted E.R. Squibb, 16-3. Stan Cygen pitched the five-hitter, which saw four double plays by the victors. Ken Potoki and Don Witt had homers for Norelco.

In other action, United Jersey Banks returned to its winning ways by conquering American Cyanamid, 19-6. Harry Gooding put in a fine night as he brought in seven runs with four hits for five tries, including a homer. Bill Borak had a perfect 4-4 night at the plate and John Muir contributed a homer for UJB.

Geophysical Fluid Dynamics Labs edged Mathematica, 12-10, on a last inning three-run homer by Lou Umscheid. Mel Rosestein was the winning pitcher in a game that featured Bob Tuleya's home run, two triples and five RBI's.

Bob Heinz's three for four hitting with two home runs led ERC to a 9-2 decision over Ingersoll Rand and Forrestal Research Center took the Institute for Defense Analyses, 18-11. The standings in the league at the end of five weeks of play:

RUSSO NAMED MVP

In PDS Baseball. At an awards dinner last week, Glenn Russo of the Princeton Day School baseball team was named the team's most valuable player for the 1975 season.

Russo pitched a two-hitter and struck out 10 in the Panthers' final game of the season last week, an 11-2 triumph over Morristown-Beard. "It was a good way to go out; we finally got some hits," said PDS coach Tom DeVito.

PDS, in DeVito's third year as head coach, ended with a 6-7 record. Russo had five of those wins, losing four.

In the final game, Bill Baggitt drove in four runs with a pair of doubles. Frank Konstantynowicz also had two hits. Konstantynowicz, a junior shortstop, finished as the team's leading hitter with

He, together with first baseman Baggett and catcher Scott Ware, have been named tri-captains for next season.

DeVito loses only his three captains this year though graduation: Russo, Gary Alup and Brad Marcus. Marcus was named the Most Improved Player of the Year at the Awards dinner.

Finishing behind Konstantynowicz in hitting was junior Mark Blaxill, who batted .400. "He had a fantastic season," said DeVito, who was already savouring thoughts of next year.

SUMMER LACROSSE SET
For Marquand Park. The Princeton Recreation Department will again sponsor a summer lacrosse league for players in this area of high school age and older.

Games will be held Monday and Wednesday evenings at Marquand Park, starting June 18 at 5:30. The 18th will be an organization and practice play night.

Applications may be obtained at the Princeton Recreation office in the old Valley Road School building. The registration fee of $5 includes a jersey. Players must furnish their own equipment. It is a stick league — no body blocks allowed.

According to league director Hawley Waterman, all players must submit an application and fee before they will be assigned to a team and allowed to participate. There will be four or six teams, depending on the number who register. Those who do not plan on playing the majority of games are asked not to register.

Complete information is available from Waterman at 924-0923.

TOURNAMENT BID SET

In Tennis. The Princeton-Trenton-New Brunswick area will enter a tennis team in the USTA-sanctioned National City Team Tournament in August. The boys' division, if they win their two preliminary play-off matches, will compete in Kansas City, Missouri; the girls have only to defeat Greenwich, Conn., to qualify for the finals in Washington, D.C.

The Trustees of the Youth Tennis Foundations of Princeton have announced that they will subsidize the expenses for the eight players in each group selected to represent the area in the playoffs. Transportation fees will also be covered.

David Benjamin, coach of the Princeton University varsity tennis team; Shawn Tully, in charge of the Princeton Community Tennis Program advanced tournament group; and Norman Peck, assistant tennis coach at Princeton University, will be in charge of the teams selected.

The competition is open to qualified junior tennis players in the Princeton-Trenton-New Brunswick area. Since playoff dates should be arranged before mid-June, the Princeton Community Tennis Office is eager to receive all applicants' names immediately.

Further information about the National City Team Tournament and preliminary organizational meeting dates

TO PICK TENNIS TEAM: Norman Peck (left) and David Benjamin, assistant and head coach of the Princeton University varsity tennis team, will, along with Shawn Tully of the Princeton Community Tennis Program, be responsible for selecting boys' and girls' teams from this area to compete in the National City Team Tournament in August. GORDON NAMED MVP

In PDS Lacrosse Awards. Senior co-captain Dich Gordon has been named the most valuable player on the Princeton Day School lacrosse team for the 1975 season, the school's most successful which culminated in the Division B State Championship.

Voted the Most Improved Player was junior defenseman Len Williams. Billy Erdman, junior midfielder, was awarded a new stick for winning the High Scorer Award.

Named tri-captains of next year's squad are Erdman, middy Tom Moore and goalie Rich Olsson.

In freshman lacrosse awards, Lawrence "Lucky" Pyne was named Most Valuable Player and John Rodgers, Most Improved.

HAMILTON IS VICTOR

Over PHS in Track. With the exception of the high jump, which Fred Berklehammer of Princeton High won with a leap of 5-10, Hamilton won all the field events last week to defeat the Little Tigers in track, 78-52. The Hornets swept the javelin.

Ken Bullock was a double winner for PHS in his specialties, the 100 and 220-yard dashes. PHS also won every distance through the two-mile. Rick Hayne capturing the 440, Royce Flippin the 880 (2:02.2), Tim Anderson the mile and Bob Potrykus, the two mile in 10:09.3. Hamilton won both hurdle events and the mile relay.

PHS ENDS AS IT BEGAN

Losing 5-1 to Hightstown. The long first season for PHS baseball coach Jim O'Neill ended last week as it had begun—with a loss. The Little Tigers were held to three hits and gave up four unearned runs in losing to Hightstown, 5-1.

In between, PHS won only three of 15 to finish with a 3-17 record.

Princeton's lone run came in the fourth when Eric Jahn singled home Eddie Volz, who had walked, for his second RBI of the season. John Madden (1-1) was tagged with the loss.

O'Neill started an all-senior team that had Pete Watson catching, a position he hadn't played since his jayvee days as a freshman. Also connecting off Hightstown hurler Jerry Martini, who fanned 12 Little Tigers, were Madden and Don Seitz.

Sophomore Scott Thompson ended with the highest batting average, getting 12 hits in 40 at bats for a .293 mark. Seitz was second with 278 and Watson third with .250.

Larry Howell, PHS shortstop, led the team in runs batted in with six. Thompson, Greg Robinson and Paul Soderman each had five RBIs.

Madden had the best earned run average, 1.13. Other games were won by Mike Boonin (1-1) and Greg Wagnieris (1-4). Watson was 0-6, Dave Kodner 0-4 and Don Seitz, who pitched only 3½ innings all year, was 0-1.

Seniors who played their last game are Mike Boccanfuso, Howell, Jahn, Kodner, Madden, Greg Robinson, Seitz, Volz, Wagnieris and Watson. Players on the varsity squad returning are Dave Robinson, Thompson, Dave Seagers, Boonin and Soderman.

PHS NO MATCH

For Montclair. "We were no match for them. There's no doubt about it; they're No. 1 in the state."

Princeton High School lacrosse coach Bill Cirullo could spew nothing but superlatives about Montclair after the upstate lacrosse power had demolished the Little Tigers, 16-5, last week in the first round of play in the NJSIAA post season tournament.

Cirullo reported that the game was almost even midway through the first period with Montclair up, 2-1. "They started to take it away. Boy did they take it away." By halftime, Montclair had rattled PHS for 10 more goals and a 12-2 hugo.

PHS lost the second half to the Montclair second-stringers, 4-3. "It's almost like going against a college team," commented Cirullo. "If you ever just want to look at lacrosse, the way it should be played, look at Montclair. They're unbelievable."

"At least," he ended, "we had the fun of playing against the best there is."

Mace Mohrman had three goals for PHS, Al Wert and Morgan Mohrman one each. Mace ended the season with a high of 20 goals for the team. The team's final record was 4-10.

Lost through graduation will be goalie Steve Tomlinson, Robert Haws, defense, middies Alex Kinnan, Kevin Syberg, John Leshner, Dan Muri, and Wert and Mace Mohrman, attack.

FLIPPIN IS SECOND

In Two-Mile in State Meet. Posting his best time ever, Princeton High School's Royce Flippin placed second in the two-mile event in the NJSIAA Group Two Track and Field State Championship Meet held Saturday at Rutgers Stadium in New Brunswick.

The Little Tigers' premier runner for the past two seasons, Flippin was timed in 9:31.8 to finish behind Ed Blakley of Haddon township, who ran the distance in 9:29.5.

Sophomore Ken Bullock was fourth in the 100-yard dash (9.9) and fifth in the 220 (22.4). His time in the 100 was the best posted in Mercer County this season.

who placed third in the two-mile behind Flippin with a time of 9:36.8. In the team standings, PHS finished 11th in a field of 39 with nine points.

The top five in each event qualified for the NJSIAA Meet of Champions which will be held Saturday at Rutgers Stadium. Joining Flippin and Bullock will be Mark McLean, all-time scorer in track for PHS, who placed fourth with a vault of 13 feet. Steve Clausen of Randolph won the event with a 13-6 effort, well below McLean's personal high of 13-9½ this season.

The lone other qualifier from Mercer County in the Group Two competition was Rick Schuder of Hightstown,
